

PRESIDENT TAFT MANY ACCIDENTS

Sees the Liberty of Faith Still Michael Sondyn Had Narrow Es- Advancing Cape From Being Killed

NORWICH, Conn., July 6.—President Taft was the chief figure yesterday in the celebration of the 25th anniversary of this historic old New England town. In an address to the people, following a splendid military parade and civic display, the president, holding a throne in the church, addressed the gathering of Norwichtans on the subject of religious liberty.

He pointed out that every man should be allowed to worship God in his own way. The president declared and launched the American forerunners of this country's religious liberty, religious intolerance, but as a matter of fact came in order that they might follow out their own religious ideas in their own way and with a large degree of tolerance toward and after them of later.

The president said that every man should be free to worship God as he may choose.

The president's address was highly applauded in character. The day was replete with historic incidents.

The president was a cautious and unassuming speaker. He was dressed in a suit of gray, and wore a white necktie. He was seated in a high-backed chair, and his hands were clasped in his lap.

Lowell, as usual, had her accidents, though there were not so many as in previous years. While some were severe, none was fatal. Besides the number reported at the local hospitals, there were many minor accidents which were treated either at home or by a doctor.

Thomas Kelley, aged 15 years of 152 Perry street and John Kennedy, 16 years, of 22 Jerome street, were both badly burned by the premature explosion of powder. Kelley and Kennedy, together with Harry Bradley, 17, and Fred Danovay, 16, had been out all night celebrating and yesterday morning about 5 o'clock found themselves in Davis square. Kelley had a paste-board box filled with powder and the quartet were debating on the best place to set off the powder when in some unknown manner it became ignited and Kelley and Kennedy were badly burned about the face and body. They were hustled to the emergency hospital in Tyler street where their burns were dressed.

His Badly Torn
Michael Sondyn, residing at 37 Church street, had a narrow escape from being killed as a result of being hit by a fragment of a bursting cannon.

Sondyn was preparing to take a walk with his wife and about 7:20 was standing in a fence in Church street waiting for her. Over in the open land of the Boston & Maine railroad at the foot of Williams street a Polish resident, who has been in the habit of shooting off a cannon every Fourth, loaded the weapon to the muzzle and then applied a match to the fuse. There must have been a flaw in the cannon or else the charge was too large for the "shooting iron" burst and the flying fragments went in every direction. One fragment, weighing about a quarter of a pound, hit Sondyn in the left hip.

It broke no bones, but it made a bad hip out of it, and Sondyn went to the emergency hospital where at mid afternoon the fragment, imbedded in the flesh, had not been discovered. The police went on the trail of the Pole who shot the cannon.

Face Filled With Powder
Carelessness on the part of Edgar Kennedy resulted in Irene Davis, aged 14 years of 82 Middlesex street, having her face filled with powder as the result of the accidental discharge of a pistol filled with blank cartridges.

The Davis girl met Kennedy in Middlesex street and the young man, pointing the pistol at the girl, said: "I am going to shoot you."

The pistol went off and the little girl received the charge of burned powder in the face, burning her badly and disfiguring one side of her face, probably permanently. The burns were dressed at the emergency hospital.

Head Lacerated
Walter McNulty, 14, of 7 North St., was fooling with a blank cartridge and it exploded, giving him a bad laceration of the left hand. The emergency hospital took care of the wound.

Hand Burned
Frank Davis, of 45 John St., had his hand filled with powder from an explosion and it required an operation at St. John's hospital.

Lost a Finger
Victor Sullivan, of 78 Richmond avenue was shot with a gun, the index finger of the left hand and at St. John's hospital it was found necessary to amputate the finger.

Powder Burn
Peter Juris, of 18 Richmond avenue, got powder into the index and second fingers of the left hand and a trip to St. John's hospital became necessary.

Thumb Injured
N. T. Duffy, of 59 Bartlett street, hurt his thumb by exploding powder and the wound had to be dressed at St. John's hospital.

Wound in Hand
John Peaty, of 49 Chapel street, received a gunshot wound in the palm of his hand. The wound was dressed at St. John's hospital.

Cartridge Exploded
Fred Loveloy, of 7 Noble's court, had a blank cartridge explode in his hand and he was taken to the Lowell hospital for treatment.

Face Badly Burned
George H. Jennell, aged 22 years, and living at 9 Railroad street, was the first injured person reported from the hospitals. He received his injury at a committal Saturday night on the South common.

He was fooling with a large cannon cracker and had it in his hand too long. It exploded near his face, burning his right cheek badly and badly lacerating his lips. In addition to this, he lost his left eye. The doctors say that he will be disfigured for life.

Explosion in His Face
Albert Stacey, of North Chelmsford, was badly burned about the face and hand by the explosion of a cannon cracker which he held too long in his hand. But for the fact that he closed his eyes about the time the explosion occurred he might have lost the sight of one or both of his eyes.

Blank Cartridge Wound
Mizael Jodoin was wounded in the right forearm Sunday by a blank cartridge, which was accidentally fired in his shop in Allen street by a young man who was handling a firearm. The wound, though not of a serious nature, is very painful. Mr. Jodoin was treated at the Red Cross pharmacy nearby.

Little Girl Burned
Nellie Daley, a little girl aged 12, living at 21 Adams street, went to the emergency hospital with several burns on the hand, resulting from the use of firecrackers. Her wounds were easily dressed.

Cracker Exploded
John Walsh, of 5 Watson street, had a narrow escape from being badly hurt last night. He was standing on the sidewalk near the corner of Lawrence and Wamsit streets when somebody threw a large cannon cracker directly behind him. The cracker exploded and Walsh was thrown to the sidewalk.

He was taken to the rooms of Higgins Bros., undertakers, nearby, and an examination showed that he had numerous burns about the legs. He was taken later to his home.

Gun Exploded
Gustaf Johnson, 11 years old, of 39 Corbett street, was celebrating yesterday morning with a revolver, loaded with blanks. In some manner Gustaf got the gun into his left hand and it exploded, embedding some powder and wadding in the palm of his right hand. He was taken to the home of Dr. J. B. Albert Johnson, 124 Moore street, where the painful injuries were dressed.

REVOLUTIONISTS VON BERNSTORFF

Were Defeated by the Cossacks
May be Successor to Von Buelow

ST. PETERSBURG, July 6.—Press despatches received here from Teheran, Persia, give further details of the recent defeat at Shahrabad of the Persian revolutionists at the hands of the Cossacks of the shah. The detachment of Cossacks took up its station in one of the summer residences of the shah. The attack was made at night. A strong force of the revolutionists advanced and the fighting lasted for seven hours. The revolutionists showed great courage, but they were finally scattered and driven back by the machine gun fire. The revolutionists lost a cannon and four flags while the Cossacks had three men killed and three others wounded.

BERLIN, July 6.—It is announced here that Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, the German ambassador in Washington, is now on the list of possibilities as successor to Von Buelow as ambassador to the United States.

IN the house, Speaker Cannon, according to the reports, probably will select Payne of New York, Daltell of Pennsylvania, Duntell of Illinois, McCall of Massachusetts and either Goldwater of Kansas or Needham of California as the republican members and Champ Clark of Missouri, Underwood of Alabama and Griggs of Georgia as the democratic members.

BUT ONE ALARM
OF FIRE YESTERDAY, THAT DUE TO FIRECRACKERS

Despite the fact that the glorious Fourth was celebrated yesterday, there was but one fire in Lowell and that didn't amount to much. It came within an acre, however, of causing serious injury. On the return to the engine house the "Lionel from Westford street" tipped near the corner of Nichols and Westford streets and threw the driver and two other men from the wagon. Fortunately they escaped with slight injuries and the wagon was not damaged.

The fire occurred shortly after the noon hour and was at the home of Miss Fontaine, 12 Grand street. Exploding firecrackers set fire to a bed and an alarm was rung in from box 155. The fire was extinguished without difficulty.

MAN DROWNED

As Result of Leaky Boat at Long Pond

Old Gabrielson, aged 35 years, was drowned Sunday morning in Long pond, Littleton. His companions, Glen Sutherland and Walter Pollock, each 16 years old, were saved.

The three entered a rowboat in the morning to take a ride around the pond. The boat was leaky and a sail which had been raised on a pole was used in order not to necessitate the use of oars. As the wind filled the boat, it took in water rapidly through the leaky side.

The men in the boat soon realized that they were in serious danger and the two boys decided to abandon the boat, but Gabrielson said that it was not necessary. They had not gone far, however, when all three realized that they only chance for safety was to swim to the shore and the three took to the water.

Gabrielson sank as soon as he struck the water, carried down by his clothing and heavy boots, and never came to the surface again. Barnes, who could not swim, sank immediately, but he came up, as he stated by Sutherland and answered to the calls which had served as a mast. This was sufficient to support the exhausted youth until he expired.

Sutherland, seeing nothing of Gabrielson, swam ashore and started to obtain help to rescue Barnes. After turning the corner of a wide bay found Fred Knutli and Charles Vary, a Finn, who rushed to the shore of the pond. These three took a boat and started out to save Barnes. There were no oars in the boat and the men were forced to use boards.

HAND BLOWN OFF STRUCK BY AUTO

Joseph Flannery Tried to Fire Small Cannon

Joseph Flannery, aged 41 years, and employed at the Hamilton Mfg. Co., had his hand torn almost to shreds while examining a toy cannon Sunday afternoon. He was hurried to the emergency hospital in Tyler street, where everything possible in the way of medical and surgical treatment was to be done, but it is thought that he will lose the hand.

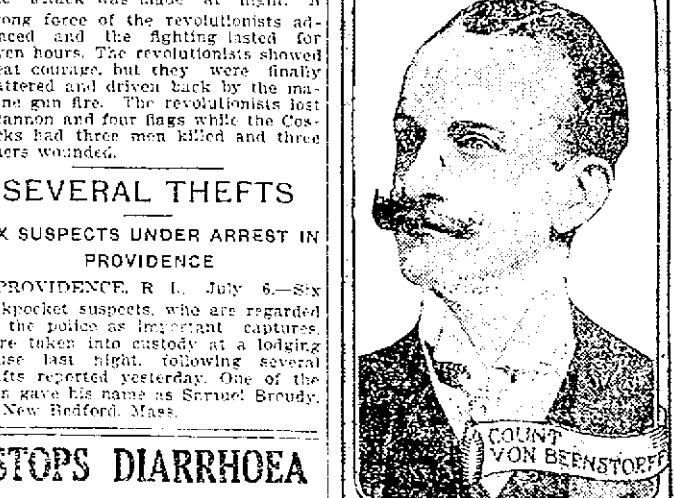

Flannery was passing by a crowd of children Sunday afternoon and watched them trying to fire a toy cannon. One of the children requested him to help them examine it, and the man took the cannon in his hand to fire it off. The machine exploded, tearing his hand to shreds, and nearly severing it from his arm.

CANOBIE LAKE THEATRE.
The theatrical season at Canobie Lake Park opened Saturday with two large audiences who were immensely pleased with the opening.

The new theatre, called "The Canobie Lake Theatre," has been a great change from past seasons. Over the centre of the lake, auditorium has been placed a roof which fully protects the seats. It is waterproof, but still reflects the light. The stage has been renovated and now scenery is used and the lighting arrangements have been improved. The attaches are nearly completed.

The orchestra which is another improvement, added greatly to the enjoyment of the performance.

The production for the current week is a unique musical farce, entitled "The Canobie Lake Theatre," which tells a story of a young man, a number of musical numbers are introduced. There is a lot of fun, but from start to finish the action is just and romantic, and the music is very clever.

TRIBUTES TO DEAD

Touching Pulpit References to Rev. Fr. Ronan's Death

In many of the churches Sunday touching reference was paid to the late pastor of St. Peter's church, Rev. Michael Ronan, who died at 1:05 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The sad announcement was made at all the masses in St. Peter's church, and deep sorrow was depicted upon the faces of all present with the loss of Rev. John T. O'Brien's sermon at the 10:30 o'clock mass the whole congregation was in tears, many of them sobbing audibly. But an imperfect report of the reverend gentleman's sermon can be obtained, but he spoke in part as follows:

Today over this broad land of ours a mighty nation, filled with civic pride and love of country, pauses in its onward march to commemorate this glorious fourth day of July, which has become as an era that overflows with sacred and perfumed memories, and recall the heroes who sustained with their life blood the banner of liberty and made bright the stars on the sky of hope. It is just and proper to recall these dead heroes of our country because they have bequeathed to us all these treasures: The states, the constitution, the Declaration of Independence, lift up your eyes and look upon these lakes and rivers, orchards and vineyards and pastures, the flocks and the herds. Think of the halls of science, the galleries of art, libraries, schools, hospitals, asylums, and the churches with their lofty towers, think of the victory for the slave, the refuge for the immigrant, the laws and reforms, and then we can well say that in all the achievements of our fathers, in their early struggle in all the disaster, the havoc and death it was costly to union and liberty that made their sanctify and consecrate the soil of the nation with their lifeblood. But all these accomplishments are transitory, they pass away, and we all thank God that we are heirs to a more blessed heritage than these things, insurances, that we have greater days in our lives than the holidays of a nation. We have days which speak to us of eternal deeds, of the mysteries of Christ, who has called us to be followers of the saints of God. Well does the church on this solemnity of the feast of Sts. Peter and Paul cry out to us, bidding us look up to those heroes who have won the battles of God and are now wearing the eternal crowns of heaven.

Who were these saints? They were once human beings in the trappings of the human flesh, men, women, boys and girls. Their names are known to all found in the calendar of martyrdom, but their merits are known to God. After death their names and their memories are blessed by every faithful people. The saints in heaven are members of the church. Death has cut the bond that held them to this life, but they are where the beatific vision constitutes their supreme happiness. They can see our trials and help us in our struggles.

What, you ask, are the characteristics of the saints on earth. We discern their greatness by an extraordinary elevation of their views, secondly by a sublime courage, and thirdly by their deeds.

Look at the heroes of the world, men of extraordinary talents, famous warriors, statesmen, writers, what has been the object of their labors? When not consumed by religious fervor, they lived in the midst of alarm and excitement, they squandered their treasures, they spread ruin, desolated provinces amid the ruin of homes and the cries of defenceless women and children to invest themselves in with some earthly power. Others again wasted themselves in midnight watching to acquire a superior name in science, or to display their learning and leave a name to posterity. Oh! the emptiness of it all! What availed the conqueror to gain his possessions when in the end he becomes a handful of dust?

"The mighty Caesar turned to clay,
Doth stop a hole to keep the wind away."

What shall the men of learning retain of their powers or their genius when they and all their faculties are extinguished in death?

Look now to the heroes of the church—the saints. They looked upon the world not as a lasting dwelling place, but as an abode of exile. They knew that beyond the yawning mouth of the

ECZEMA CAN BE PERMANENTLY CURED

If you are suffering from itching, burning Eczema, Psoriasis, Urticaria, Pimples, Salt Rheum, etc., you can go on treating yourself externally for the rest of your natural life, and at last you will get only temporary relief. This works out advantageously for the exploiters of patent remedies who claim that diseases can be cured by lotions and ointments only. You may get ease for a while, and when the disease reasserts itself you go back to your druggist and buy more of this same remedy and thereby bring grief to the mill of the manufacturer. But are you cured? You know best; you have tried. On Taylor's treatment commences with the blood, attacks the disease at its source, as you would a

SOME HOUSE MEMBERS WHO WILL DISCUSS NEW TARIFF BILL IN JOINT COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, July 5.—When the senate has completed its debate on the tariff schedules the bill will go to the joint conference committee of the senate and the house. The tentative list of house members who will comprise the committee includes Representatives Sereno E. Payne, New York, republican; Champ Clark, Missouri, republican; E. J. Hill, Connecticut, republican; Henry S. Boutwell, Illinois, republican; James M. Griggs, Georgia, democrat; Samuel W. McCall, Massachusetts, republican; John Dalzell, Pennsylvania, republican; and Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama, democrat. Since President Taft's new tariff speech, in which he said his party must carry out its campaign pledges, there has been a growing belief that when the tariff bill reaches the conference committee many of the schedules that the senate has established will be reduced. There may also be a readjustment of the duties on raw materials, which caused such a fight in the upper branch of the congress. The majority of the committee are in favor of material reduction of the tariff, and now that the corporation tax amendment has found its way into the bill the position of the tariff reductionists is strengthened upon the theory that the corporation tax will make up for any shortage in revenues that the reduced tariff on necessities might incur.

Garde Frontenac of this city went to Brockton yesterday and won first prize at the annual military contest of the French American Volunteer Brigade of New England. The prize drill was held at Highland park in the presence of a large number of people.

The Lowell men did themselves proud, carrying off the prize over the heads of crack East River guards, who were among the brigade's first losers. This prize consists of a gold medal or a permanent, or a cash equivalent of $50 at the choice of the winner. Capt. Albert Bergeron was in command, with First Lieut. Horace Desjardins and Second Lieut. Zoukine Gregoire under him.

The contest, which took place in the afternoon, was preceded by a parade of some 20 squads from all over New England, affiliated with the brigade. Speeches in the open air at Highland park followed the contest.

BOXING BOUT UNDER AUSPICES OF DRACUT ATHLETIC CLUB

A fast exhibition of wrestling and boxing was held before the members of the Dracut Athletic club last night at its clubhouse at Lakeview. The clubhouse is the old skating rink which has been refitted and remodeled.

The first exhibition was a wrestling match between Edward Lefore and Aime Richardson. After 14 minutes of fast work Richardson pinned his opponent's shoulders to the mat.

The next event on the program was a sparring exhibition between Joe Flaherty and Henry Reynolds, the latter of Nashua. After six rounds the referee called the bout a draw.

Frank Lavigne, of Fall River, and Young Buster of Pawtucket, R. I., were scheduled for six rounds. The men weighed about 125 pounds each and displayed surprising skill with the referee's decision in the fifth round. Buster landed two blows to his opponent's eye in the last two rounds, and it was apparent that he had the advantage when the bout ended.

Thomas Kelly was master of ceremonies.

Garde Frontenac of Man Accused of Killing Lowell Got Prize Detective

AUBURN, N. Y., July 5.—Glussippe Sanduel, who murdered Joseph Dorando, an Italian detective, at Belfast, N. Y., on Dec. 21, 1907, was put to death in the electric chair in Auburn prison this morning. The execution was remarkable for the celerity with which it was carried out.

Two shocks were used to kill, one lasting for three seconds over a minute and the second being of less than ten seconds' duration.

WHISKEY SERVED In a Church at Annisquam, Mass.

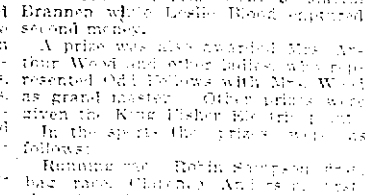

ANNISQUAM, July 4.—Whiskey served from the communion table of the Universalist church by a number of young men who overpowered the watchman and afterwards sought to wreck an electric car by placing it on the track, marred the opening hours of the celebration here yesterday.

The acts of lawlessness have aroused the citizens of the town and warrants for the arrest of 25 young men will be asked for.

Not content with the desecration of the church, the lawless element turned their attention to the street car lines just before daylight and placed twenty heavy ties along a dangerous stretch of curves in one of the busy sections. The first car of the morning, carrying many persons, was almost stopped when the obstructions were discovered and removed.

ACCUSED SLAYER

Of Elsie Sigel May be on German Steamship

NEW YORK, July 6.—In the hope of capturing Leon Ling, the accused slayer of Elsie Sigel, the police have just cabled to several cities on the Mediterranean coast and to points through the Suez canal and Indian ocean to hold up the German steamship Helene Rickmers and search it for the fugitive. Information is almost conclusive, the police say, that Ling shipped from Philadelphia between June 11 and 12. The murder was committed on June 9. In looking up the record detectives found that the Helene Rickmers left Philadelphia June 12 bound for Itoosaki, Japan, and that before sailing her commander, Captain Oetting, had shipped several Chinese as crew. Among these Chinese were men who were engaged only a short time before sailing was one well dressed man who spoke good English and who professed to be an efficient cook. Leon Ling wore good clothes, spoke English fluently and was a master of the ship.

The Helene Rickmers was the only vessel which left Philadelphia at that time. The vessel is now believed to be either approaching or just out of the Suez. It was last reported at Tarifa, a seaport town of Spain, fifteen miles southwest from Gibraltar on June 26.

Central office detectives would not discuss how the information came to them but advised from Philadelphia that the agents for the steamship observed the report of Captain Oetting concerning the listing of a Chinese cook and they compared their list with the description of Leon Ling and decided to notify the authorities. Captain Carey of the homicide bureau was surprised when he heard that this information had leaked out, but he said he regarded it as the best clue he had yet had as to the flight of "Leon." As soon as three police learned that the Helene Rickmers was bound for Japan and that it had shipped a Chinese cook they cabled every port between Tarifa, Spain and Japan at which the German steamer might report.

THE FIRE DEPT. Not Kept Busy on the Fourth

Despite the fact that Saturday night was the "Night Before" the fire department had comparatively little to do. Three alarms were sounded between midnight and early Sunday morning. One of these was caused by a drunken man throwing a match in a collection of explosives in a store window near the old city hotel in East Merrimack street. The alarm was sent in from box 131.

In the store at the time that the lighted match was thrown were several customers and together with the proprietor they had to beat a hasty retreat. Charles Jelmsak was among the number and he jumped through a window and sustained a cut on the left knee. Dr. William Collins was called to the man's home and found it necessary to take two stitches in the wound.

For something that wasn't on the program it certainly was a great display, but it had given out by the time the firemen had arrived on the scene. The store was on fire but the department made short work of the blaze.

While on the way to the fire the protective from Warren street and one of the wagons from the Central fire station had a narrow escape from collision in Merrimack square.

Another alarm from the same box was sounded at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The presence of the department, however, was not required as a few buckets of water had quenched the fire.

SIX FATALITIES

Attended Celebration of the Fourth in New England

BOSTON, July 6.—The unwilling contribution of New England to the country's list of deaths caused directly or indirectly by the observance of the Fourth of July was comparatively small yesterday, but six persons coming within the broadest interpretation of such fatalities. Of the six deaths but one, that of Mrs. Margerie Hanks, at Bedford, was due to the use of fireworks, while the others were a direct result of the observance. The day's toll from New England includes the following victims:

Edward Morley, 18 years old, Boston; drowned while rowing on the Charles river in a regatta.

Mrs. Margerie Hanks, 46 years old, of Bedford; burned to death by fireworks.

Benjamin C. Mose, 7 years old, Watertown; killed by train while collecting material for a bonfire.

James C. Cordon, 28 years old, of Lowell; at Portland, Me.; killed by dropping from a balloon.

Stanislaw Posnanski, 25 years old, of Brockton; head blown off by shotgun.

Alphonse Gideon, 14 years old, of Therion, R. I.; killed by stray bullet, probably fired by celebrator.

The number of minor injuries, some of which may yet result in death, is large, but it is believed much smaller than the average.

Large fires were few in number, one at Rumford Falls, Me., which started in timber from a firecracker, causing a damage of $100,000 to lumber and paper mills and material.

INJURY FATAL

Boy Struck His Head Against Pole

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 6.—Kenneth Stewart, of Manchester, a high school boy, died at the County Farm hospital at Grafton shortly after midnight. While on a trolley car bound for Goffstown in the afternoon, and standing on the running board, he struck his head against a pole by the railroad. He never recovered consciousness.

SIX LIVES LOST

Man and Children Were Burned to Death

RICHMOND, Va., July 5.—H. F. Strange, aged 74, a Confederate veteran, and five children, Verne, aged 14; Beatrice, aged 7; Violet, aged 5; Cecil, aged 3, and Henry, aged 18 months, all children of S. E. Hamlett, were burned to death in the Hamlett home at South Boston early yesterday.

NURSES' ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION
A pleasing entertainment was given Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the Nurses' Alumnae association. After the regular business meeting, two papers were read, one by Mrs. Foster H. Smith on "The Book-Worm Diseases" and the other by Miss Stella Richmond on "Sick Infants and Children." Refreshments were served, after which followed an informal reception by the Sisters of Charity in charge at the hospital.

SKETCHES AT THE FETE CHAMPETRE AT THE FRENCH ORPHANAGE

GRAND LAWN FETE

At French Orphanage Attended by 5000 People

The grounds of the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street was the scene of great activity yesterday, the event being the fete Champetre given for the benefit of the orphanage. The day was all that could be desired, and persons visited the grounds during the day. It was a glad sight and a happy time for Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., the organizer of the event. It was stated that the fete would net the orphanage over $1000.

There was a lot of amusement during the day and all present seemed to be enjoying themselves to their hearts' content. As spacious as are the grounds you could find kids and lassies searching for room enough to play some innocent little game. The whole was a scene of mirth and joy.

The French American orchestra, F. A. McKerscher, leader, furnished music for the occasion and opened the festivities with a musical overture at 5 o'clock. Perhaps the most exciting feature of the sports was a Marathon race in which Napoleon Vigeant won first prize and Hector Asselin second.

Chorus singing by the young women attendants on the refreshment tables was a pretty feature and was much enjoyed, as were the songs and dances of the little orphans themselves. About 100 of the little tots danced a Maypole dance around a ribbon bedecked pole.

To the natural beauty of the surroundings there was added the touch of artificial decoration. Large flags wrapped the facade of the building and floated from the broad piazzas.

At the close of the festivities Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., made brief remarks, thanking all who had contributed to the success of the affair. He also took occasion to announce that Mrs. Abraham L'Anglais was the victor in a contest for selling the greatest number of badges of admission to the grounds. There were three contestants for the prize, a handsome framed portrait of Fr. Barrette, Mrs. L'Anglais, who brought in $208; Mrs. Euchariste Champagne, who brought in $202; and Mrs. Joseph Albert, who brought in $200.

The fete was given under the general management of Fr. Barrette and under the auspices of St. Anne's sodality, of which he is chaplain. The reception and organization committee was composed of Mrs. Euchariste Champagne, president; Mrs. Eulalie Gagneau, Delphine Regnier, Amanda Regnier, Delphine Regnier, Ernestine Alexander, Aline Leclerc, Gabrielle Turcotte, Yvonne Gauthier, Annette Lereau, Delphine Leclerc, Victoria Laplante, Ida Mongrain, Leonie Chaput, Rosalie Desile, Anna Carrier, Emerencienne Desile, Jeanette Robette, Eva Archambault, Marie Archambault, Cora Phaneuf, Marie Trudel, Rose Helene Hebert, Mathilde Hebert, Blanche Oulmet, Florence Provost, Emmeline Provost, Delia Plante, Marie L'Anglais, Emilie Lepine, Stella Lepine, Eugenie Racicot, Georgiana Racicot, Mathilde Morrison, Grace Sabourin, Rebecca Lacouture, Helene Capreau, Regina Berber, Grace Brunelle, Fleur Ange Gignac, Regina Anna and Annette Vigeant, Sara Lambert, Josephine Lambert, Amanda Lambert, Marie Louise Charrette, Delia Lambert.

THEATRE LA SCALA

The Theatre La Scala played to capacity all day yesterday and not one of the thousands of patrons was dissatisfied. The efforts of the management to provide the best quality combined with a sufficient quantity in its programs has been a big success. This theatre is well known all over the state. Today's program is a very good one with just the right amount of dramatic features and at the same time with plenty of real laughing comedy. Charles Rogers and Mlle. Tessier, the singers, are real artists with fine voices and the know how of singing.

BREEZY POINT.

Breezy Point was the center of attraction for thousands yesterday and every visitor was more than pleased. The music was great, the beauty of the place the best. The management has decided to provide dancers with free transportation on the steamer.

er in the future by accepting a steamer ticket for a dance ticket, thus allowing a round trip on the steamer and one dance for five cents. This does away with the only possible objection of extra cost of passage on the boat.

THE FIRST REDUCTION SALE

At the Smart Clothes Shop Starts Friday Next

The FIRST reduction sale—do you realize that only once in a business life can that be said—that only once during a firm's existence, can you choose from ALL NEW GOODS at reduced prices?

Because it IS the first, it should command attention. Not only is everything new this season, but a big part of the goods has been in the shop less than a month.

The D. S. O'BRIEN CO. is grateful for a business beyond expectations during the few months of its existence. From now on attention will be given to disposing of all spring stocks in preparation for Fall Goods.

Limited store space prohibits the carrying of any but active stocks here. Each season's goods MUST be sold in its season. We positively can't carry them over. We haven't the room. It isn't a question of choice but of necessity.

These considerations have weighed with us in marking prices. They should with you when choosing. Every Fancy Spring Suit and every Spring Trousers in stock can be had beginning Friday, at a price at least one-fourth less than usual. Details in Thursday's papers.

LITTLE HOPE FOR MESSINA
The recent shocks in Messina show that it is hazardous to build or to reside in Messina or vicinity. Any new city raised on the ruins of the old is sure at some future date to meet a similar fate.

ACTION OF CONGRESS DISAPPOINTING
Sometime ago it was predicted as a sort of reproach that congress would remain in session till the Fourth of July. The Fourth has passed and congress is still in session with slight hopes of an immediate adjournment. Time was wasted in discussion of tariff schedules with the sole result that they were fixed as Senator Aldrich and the republican stand-patters desired. The special session must soon close and yet the tariff bill decided upon does not fulfill the pledges of the republican party to the country. It is revision upward instead of downward as the people were led to expect. It is a betrayal of the public confidence and a violation of republican party pledges. The only way in which this result can be changed is by the veto of the president, but that is not expected. One of the eleventh hour developments is the advocacy of a corporation tax of two per cent. as a means of forestalling an income tax which would call for an annual contribution from most of the United States senators.

THE REV. FR. RONAN.
In the death of Rev. Fr. Ronan of St. Peter's church, the city has lost a zealous, devout and indefatigable pastor, a public spirited and patriotic citizen, a man of deep sympathy and untiring energy for the uplifting of the weak and the erring, for the relief of suffering and the protection of orphaned or destitute children. He was a man of great ability in many directions, an able administrator, a wise counsellor in domestic and business affairs, while in religious matters his sublime faith combined with his simplicity of character and his untiring solicitude for his flock endeared him to his people, the young as well as the old. The great work of his life was spiritual and is therefore invisible, but all those who knew him intimately or who were lifted to a higher life by his pastoral ministrations will say that this was the chief work of his pious life. But the chief visible monument left to keep his memory green in the hearts of his people is the magnificent temple on Gorham street in which his refined taste, his architectural skill, his religious zeal and his wonderful enthusiasm in the service of the Master are all imperishably enshrined. Rev. Father Ronan will be missed in Lowell, missed as a priest, as a citizen and as a great power for good in the community.

PROGRESS TOWARDS SANITY ON THE FOURTH.
Never perhaps in the last fifty years has such an effort been made for a safe and sane observance of the Fourth as in the present instance. The result, we believe, is generally gratifying as the number of casualties, fatal and otherwise, has been greatly reduced from that of past years. The reckless riot of din and noise does nobody any good. It is nerve-racking to everybody and none will be discommoded in the least by a change that will cling to the spectacular if need be, but at the same time eliminate the pandemonium that usually reigns about the streets from the night before until quite late the day of the celebration. Let us be thankful that as a result of an organized attempt to suppress unnecessary noises on the Fourth there has been a very noticeable absence of that reckless abandon which rendered our streets and public parks a veritable bedlam. There was also a more guarded use of fireworks with the result that there have been fewer accidents from the use of explosives; the doctors and the hospitals had less to do and everybody is better pleased while fewer have to nurse dangerous wounds.

With a like advance towards safer methods of celebrating the Fourth for each of the next few years, the annual slaughter will be stopped and Independence day will be observed in a sensible, enjoyable, and at the same time appropriate manner.

THE PROGRESS OF THE AGE
The progress of the age as indicated by inventions is really marvelous. The electric telegraph is not such an old invention, many of our old residents remembering its installation in this country. The telephone came next to excite our wonder by linking mankind more closely in providing a means of communicating verbally at a considerable distance. But both these inventions have been cast into the shade by the invention or discovery of wireless telegraphy. This system is undoubtedly but in its infancy and when fully developed, it may be applied to perform feats that are now considered impossible. In other lines inventions have made equal progress. The bicycle has been in common use but a brief period, comparatively speaking. The time has arrived, however, when it is being superseded by motor cycles and automobiles. The application of motors to such vehicles is sure to become more common and eventually to revolutionize present day methods of rapid transit. Motor cars are likely to be built in the near future and to be used with or without tracks for special purposes. On the heels of the automobile and motor car comes the flying machine, still in a crude shape, it is true, but nevertheless giving promise of speedy development that assures the success of aerial navigation in the near future. The feat of reaching the north pole with a flying machine can in all probability be accomplished without great difficulty if not without danger, so that science will be advanced in many different ways as the result of these inventions. What will be the next great invention? Nobody knows, but certain it is that such inventions will be continuous, that man will always be progressive, always striving for better and for greater achievements. His inventive genius, however, stops at one task, namely, that of producing perpetual motion. That seems to be reserved for the Creator and while we contemplate the regularity of the heavenly bodies in their fixed orbits, we realize, in spite of our ingenuity, the futility of our achievements in comparison with the might of the Omnipotent.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is probably true that two can live as cheaply as one, if the one spends a great deal of money.
The man who always says what he thinks ought always to be very careful what he thinks.
It is only on the return trip, after the honeymoon is over, that he can be persuaded to leave his little bride and go forward to the smoking car.
A pessimist is a man who, if by some strange chance he should ever get to heaven, would begin wondering, on the way, how the golden streets weren't plated.
Cleopatra may have been fat and freckled, and she may have walked with a dumpy waddle, but most men don't think of her that way.
Even the man who keeps a cash account can't tell where all his money goes to.
The more you learn, the more you know, especially when you have been crossed in love, and are learning to forget.
To be sure, the farmer may lose a little money sometimes when he goes down into the gold-briar market in the city, but he gets it all back again in the summer when the hungry man comes up into the country for a month's rest on the farm.
Even if there were no such thing as money in the world, men like Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Carnegie would invent it, and then start to get it all.
Trying to live so as to please the neighbors is about as fruitless a task as it is to try to get the neighbors to live so as to please you.
Even though the world owes every one a living, it shows no present signs of going into bankruptcy.
A good cry often refreshes a woman, but it is a mean man who will make a woman cry just for the purpose of refreshing her.
It's all right for the fellow to say: "Come, Mamma, let's be chums," but both Mamma and the fellow should know where to draw the "chum" line. It is too near the sweetheart line to be treated indifferently.

As she neared the top a storm arose, and Mr. Workman, who had remained behind with a telephotographic camera, took a photograph showing her and two guides with clouds around them. But this climber was not all. The Workman party was in useful collaboration for some months with three special glacier experts, mapping the country as the Swiss Alps have been mapped, and making curious and important discoveries in regard to certain "rhynchole formations" that have been found in the Andes and South Africa.
A memorial bronze tablet in honor of Colonel John Trumbull, the painter, was formally dedicated in New Haven last Sunday by the David Humphreys branch of the Connecticut society of the Sons of the American Revolution. It is affixed to the exterior wall of the building of the Yale School of Fine Arts, where Trumbull lies buried, and where the most important collection of his paintings is preserved. Trumbull was born at Lebanon, Ct., in 1756, and died in New York in 1843. He was graduated from Harvard, and served with distinction in the revolutionary war as adjutant to Washington and Gates. In 1788 he retired with the rank of colonel, and in 1790 went to London to study under Benjamin West. There he painted his "Battle of Bunker's Hill" and "The Death of Montgomery at Quebec." In 1793 he returned to America and painted his "Surrender of General Burgoyne's Capitulation." "Surrender of Lord Cornwallis," etc. He was one of the first presidents of the National Academy of Design.
C. C. James, deputy minister of agriculture of Canada, has come to England to start negotiations looking to the solution of the problem of getting domestic servants for labor in the province of Ontario. He hopes to induce enough servants to emigrate from England to supply the need. Commenting on his visit, The London Telegraph says: "It is probable that there is no part of the British empire in which there are at the present moment better or more profitable openings than there are in Ontario for three classes of immigrants: farmers possessed of small capital, farm laborers and domestic servants."

Wilson Vance, father of Louis Joseph Vance, well known for his books, "The Black Bag" and "The Brass Bow," is himself the author of a novel to be published under the title of "Big John Baldwin." Big John is a Puritan gentleman who has experiences as a colonist in America and also under Cromwell in England.
An unconfirmed statement is made in London, according to a special cable dispatch to the New York Times, that the Marquis of Lansdowne has followed the example of the Duke of Norfolk in selling a famous work of art. This is Rembrandt's picture of "The Mill," painted in 1650, which depicts the sun's rays lighting up a lonely windmill upon a ruined bastion. The picture has had varied owners, but has been in the possession of the Lansdowne family at their country seat, Bowood, for more than one hundred years. They bought it originally for 800 guineas ($4200). In present rumors, which are believed, the Marquis is offering it for a sum approaching $500,000 as the price it has now fetched. It is pointed out that the recent visit to England of a celebrated art authority, Dr. Wilhelm Bode of Berlin, was connected with the sale. If the report of the sale of this Rembrandt should be confirmed it would serve to settle the question, already begun in England, for legislation looking towards restrictions upon the sale to foreigners of valuable works of art. If the enormous price mentioned in the dispatch has really been paid for a landscape by Rembrandt it will establish a record. Possibly one of the reasons for attaching a special value to "The Mill" is the tradition that Rembrandt was born in his father's windmill at Leyden, though it is now held that there is no evidence on which to base this legend. The fact is that at the time of the artist's birth his father lived in the Veldesteeg in Leyden, where he owned a good house. This is a little narrow street, running down to the river Rhine. The mill belonging to Rembrandt's father was on the bastion opposite, but there is no good ground for the legend which relates that Rembrandt used it as his studio. Houben, who apparently has turned most of the picturesque stories about Rembrandt's early life, said that this was his birthplace and first studio. The fine Rembrandt monument, which was unveiled with much pomp and ceremony in Leyden in the summer of 1906 is situated just across the river from the Weddesteg.

MAYOR BUSSE OF CHICAGO, WHO UNDERWENT OPERATION

FRED A. BUSSE
CHICAGO, July 4.—Mayor Fred A. Busse of Chicago was in a critical condition following an operation for appendicitis at Mercy hospital. He had suffered from rheumatism for many months preceding the operation and was in a weakened condition when he went under the knife. Mr. Busse was born in Chicago in 1866 and received his education in the public schools. He went into politics as soon as he was grown and after holding several clerkships in city departments was elected to the legislature. He was successively state senator, state treasurer, and postmaster of Chicago and mayor.

STRUCK BY POLE
Car Conductor Killed on Lakeview Line

Adam C. Ort, a conductor on the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, while walking along the running board of a Lakeview car Sunday night was struck by one of the poles alongside the track and suffered a fracture of the skull which resulted in his death an hour and a half later at St. John's hospital.
While some of the passengers on the car state that he lost his grip on one of the side poles and fell to the ground, others say he did it for more likely story, that he stepped out too far for the running board and was struck on the head by a pole.
The car left Lakeview park at 7:15 o'clock and Ort had just started to collect fares when the accident happened. When he picked up he was unconscious and the motion of the car realizing that the injured man was in a precarious condition ran his car back to Lakeview, and a special car took the injured man to Brookline square where the ambulance was waiting to remove him to St. John's hospital.
At the hospital the doctors did everything in their power to save Ort's life, but it was seen that his skull was badly fractured and they entertained little hope for his recovery. He remained in the hospital long enough to recognize his parents, although he was in terrible agony, and died at 9:15, one hour and a half after the accident occurred.
Medical Examiner J. V. Neigs signed the death certificate as death due to a fractured skull received by accident.
Ort was a young man, and was to observe his 22nd birthday anniversary yesterday. He was a spare man on the road, having worked on the electric but a short time, and was in charge of an extra when the accident occurred. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ort, and three sisters, Mary, Josephine and Emma, all living at 26 Broadway.
The body was removed to the rooms of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Medical Examiner J. V. Neigs signed the death certificate as death due to a fractured skull received by accident.
Ort was a young man, and was to observe his 22nd birthday anniversary yesterday. He was a spare man on the road, having worked on the electric but a short time, and was in charge of an extra when the accident occurred. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ort, and three sisters, Mary, Josephine and Emma, all living at 26 Broadway.
The body was removed to the rooms of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

$25,000 DAMAGE

Caused by Fire in Portland, Me.
PORTLAND, Me., July 6.—A fire which threatened the manufacturing district in the heart of the business section of Portland broke out a few minutes before midnight last night, a general alarm calling out all the apparatus. The fire broke out in the large wooden building at 32-24 Plum street occupied as a repair shop by the F. O. Bailey Carriage Co.
The fire was under control at 1 o'clock. The damage to buildings and contents will not exceed $25,000 and was partly covered by insurance. The fire was kept from spreading to adjoining buildings.

ONE MAN DYING

Serious Stabbing Affray at a Dance
LYNN, July 6.—One man is dying, another may die, and a third is in a serious condition at the Lynn hospital as the result of a stabbing affray at a dance in Swampscott last night where a party of Italians became jealous at rival attentions to a woman. A fourth Italian, Tencerell Freddie, aged 35, became the least injured, is locked up at the police station charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.
The injured men are Tony Marabara, aged 32, who was almost disemboweled and cannot live; State Antonio, aged 30, who received multiple wounds and may not live; and Rabelia Tencora, aged 29, who is cut in the left knee, left arm and shoulder and is in a serious condition.

LAWN PARTY

HELD BY THE LADIES OF CENTRALVILLE M. E. CHURCH
The Ladies' Aid society of the Centralville M. E. church held a patriotic lawn party yesterday afternoon and evening. The socialists were well patronized and there was a patriotic program in the evening.
The entertainment program was under the direction of Rev. J. T. Gwynn and comprised the reading by Mr. Russell of the "Independence" Roll, the singing of patriotic hymns and national songs, and a closing tableau illustrating the signing of "American." Miss Molly Johnson appearing in the tableau with the American flag.
The following ladies, each with several assistants, presided at the tables: Misses Mrs. Sidell, Mrs. Crestin, Mrs. John Smith, sandwiches, Mrs. Ryan, Mrs. Mrs. Callahan, oranges and Mrs. Mrs. Hill.
Fireworks added to the festivities in the evening.

MR. ROOSEVELT

Heard His Prowess Told in Song

NAIROBI, British East Africa, July 1.—Colonel Roosevelt heard his prowess as a lion killer told in song and sketch at the entertainment given on Saturday night by the "Nairobi Folies," which Mr. Roosevelt and his son Kermit attended as the guests of His Excellency, Mr. F. J. Jackson, C. G. M. G., acting governor, as an evening's diversion after dining at government house. The topical songs dealing with Mr. Roosevelt were a feature of the occasion and at each allusion made to himself, Col. Roosevelt's laugh rang out above the applause and laughter of the rest of the audience.
The song describing Colonel Roosevelt's lion hunting was sung by Miss Secor in the course of a sketch entitled "A tale of the Chase." It ran as follows:
"FELIS LEO"
A lion lurked in his lonely lair,
As African lions do,
For he liked to be where he could get a share
Of a nice little buck with a slice of luck.
In our wonderful nature zoo,
His large inside he nightly fed with zebra or harichest instead.
"There isn't a scrap of doubt," said he, "This isn't a exceedingly good for me, 'For I grow fat for fatter."
"What on earth does it mat, mat, mat, matter."
"If the way that I creep, on the beasts in their sleep,
"Makes the poor things scat, scat, scatter."
He hunted game in the moonshine bright,
With never a thought of harm.
But he got quite a fright when there hove in sight
Teddy armed to the teeth with a knife and sheath.
And a rifle in each arm.
The Colonel plucked him with a laugh,
While Kermit took his photograph.
Said he: "Those Wall Street boys would cry,
"If they knew how near I'd been to die, "Oh this country's bull, bull, bull, "And he alone is full, full, full, "For it cures the best they can show in the West.
"That's so wild and wool, wool, wool," (Roosevelt) East Africa) recounted some of Mr. Roosevelt's experiences in the colony as follows:
B. E. A.
(With apologies to Kipling)
At the port of Kilindini,
Looking eastward across the main;
We welcomed Teddy Roosevelt,
And he hoped to do again.
And the rain it fell in torrents,
And the world seemed far from gay;
But we did our best to greet him in our way in B. E. A.
He travelled up the railway,
And he said the sights were grand,
And he asked "That's Bully."
As we well can understand:
For the game is here in thousands,
And it's here he'd have him stay;
Just to see giraffes and rhinos
Near the rail in B. E. A.
We heard of him and Ted lions,
And he rained on the chain;
How he bravely faced all dangers,
And dead beasts have slain;
Still, we're nothing heard but ru-mors,
That's a truth we must confess;
We have no truthful story for
He shut out all the press.
Yes, he shut out all the press,
And he left them there to guess;
They raved, and growled, and gumbled,
They were left in such a mess!
But that's all passed and done with,
For they were not far away;
And their news is scattered broad-cast,
Over all the world today;
Still, he sent in news one Tuesday,
It is nice to be polite;
But the New York papers had it
On the previous Sunday night.
Oh, it really was a frost,
And one finds it to his cost,
If he tries to back the press men,
It is very often lost.

THE LIBERTY BELL AND AUTHOR OF THE DECLARATION

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Contrary to popular tradition, the actual adoption of the Declaration of Independence was not made known on July 4. Although it was generally known in Philadelphia that congress, which was deliberating behind closed doors, had voted favorably on the resolution for independence, the document was not published until July 6, and it was on the 6th that John Nixon read the document to a great crowd of patriots assembled in the state house yard. No score was the company over than the people love the king's coat of arms from over the doorway of the state house and burned it. As history records, congress had ordered the Declaration of Independence read publicly in other cities, and in every case the wildest demonstrations followed. In New York the statue of King George was torn down, and given to the authorities to be melted into bullets. Wherever the precious document was read there were processions, the firing of salutes, ringing of bells and the destruction of some effigy or monument to emphasize the people's hatred of England.

6000 ON STRIKE IN POLICE COURT

Mine Workers Quit Their Jobs at Sydney, B. C.

SYDNEY, C. B., July 6.—The strike of the United Mineworkers of America which is regarded as a contest between that organization and the provincial Workmen's organization took place at the collieries of the Dominion Coal Company this morning. About 6000 men failed to appear at the mines this morning. Both forces claim the majority of the workers in the mines.

The labor agitation in the mines of the Dominion Coal Company has been in progress for nearly a year under the direction of the officers of the United Mine Workers of America, the American organization seeking recognition by the company.

In this effort the American labor leaders were opposed by officers of the provincial Workmen's association which was formed here some time before the appearance of the United Mineworkers. The Dominion Coal Company's managers refused the request of the United Mineworkers, it being the intention of Dominion officials that the American labor leaders were seeking to divert the Canadian coal trade to the colliers in the United States. During the last month the controversy between the two labor organizations has grown very bitter and anticipating that a resort might be made to violence the Dominion company built stockades around the mines on the top of which were strong electric wires which could be used in carrying high powered currents. The company also enlisted more than 150 special officers for government duty.

The strike was practically declared last night when the members of the United Mineworkers came out of the pits with their tools. It was hoped, however, that they might reconsider their action but this morning very few of the United Mineworkers appeared at the collieries. Until reports are received from all the outlying mines the full extent of the strike and the number of men out will not be definitely known.

Both sides this forenoon claimed a majority of the miners and the strike is expected to demonstrate the comparative strength of the two organizations.

The United Mineworkers were known to have a large majority of workers in Numbers 2, 3 and 4 collieries and it was about the Number 2 colliery that trouble was feared.

SHOT TO DEATH

Man Killed in Home of Friend

BROCKTON, July 6.—Stanislaw Tosinski, aged 23, unmarried, and quite well known in the Lithuanian colony at the north end here, was shot and instantly killed yesterday morning at the home of Thomas Yaseckiewicz, 121 Bellevue avenue.

The police later arrested Yaseckiewicz, who is 29 years old. He will be arraigned in the police court on a charge of murder. He was arrested by Policemen Vernon O. Shinn and Russell E. Brown within an hour after the shooting of Tosinski.

According to eye witnesses, the two men were in a party in the kitchen of Yaseckiewicz's tenement. Both men were shot workers, employed in Rumford mills, and were fast friends for a long time. Tosinski being a leader in the tenement upon the third floor.

It is claimed that a discussion arose over a single barrel broom leading to the shooting, and it was further claimed that Yaseckiewicz did not know it was loaded when he picked it up.

Many Arrests For Minor Offences

This morning's session of the police court, which was presided over by Judge John J. Pickman, was very light, when it is taken into consideration that a Sunday and a holiday intervened between the sessions of Saturday and this morning.

There was a number of offenders in the dock, some for drunkenness, others for celebrating the Fourth in a riotous manner, and a few on more serious charges, but on the whole the session was one of the lightest held the day following the Fourth for many years.

Discharged Revolver.
Nicholas Rihaneis, who ignored the orders issued by the police relative to the discharge of revolvers in the streets, was trying out a new 45 caliber revolver yesterday when Patrolman Drowett put in an appearance and arrested him. He was charged with carrying a dangerous weapon without further resistance. He was fined $2.

Paid for His Fun.
William Barlas was not satisfied with confining his share in the celebration of the Fourth to a riotous manner, and decided to use a revolver. He was participating in his gun play when Patrolman Ganley and Castle placed him under arrest. It cost Bill $2 for his fun.

Were Celebrating.
George Habebek and Hippolyte Lehoult were charged with drunkenness. A second complaint charged Habebek with firing a firecracker off on July 3rd, and Lehoult with discharging a pistol on Saturday. They were fined $2 each for drunkenness and $1 each for their premature celebration of the 4th.

Placed on Probation.
William Langley was booked at the police station on a charge of drunkenness and suspicion of breaking and entering. In court he was charged with drunkenness only and was placed on probation for one month.

Did as Others Did.
Michael John was arrested Sunday night by Patrolman Ganley and McCarthy for setting off firecrackers before the time prescribed by law. His only excuse was that he saw others doing the same. He was fined $1.

Taking Pictures on Sunday.
Peter Courmbeis was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Wm. Groux for taking pictures on the Lord's day. He pleaded guilty in court this morning and the case was placed on file.

Had a "Sweet Board."
Samuel Halliwell, who claims Lawrence as his place of residence, was working a "sweet board," or the south corner of a building, when he was caught by Patrolman Ganley and arrested. He pleaded guilty and the case was placed on file.

Hippers at Work.
Two young men were arrested for selling drugs from bottles on the common. One was fined $5 and the case of the other was continued.

Using a Revolver.
Charles Costas was using a revolver today and was also dangerously for people in the immediate vicinity, when he was arrested by Patrolman Ganley and Castle. He was fined $5.

She "Touched" Her Friend.
Rose Miller was before the court charged with assault. She said that her home was in Boston. Rose and a companion came to the city for the purpose of celebrating and while doing so, she "touched" her friend, meaning that she gave her a blow on the head. While walking through the streets, the young man accompanied by a crowd of people, which he had a short time before. He reported the matter to the police and Rose was sent to the station.

Billieca.
The Fourth was celebrated in another manner by the residents of Billieca. The residents of Billieca, a small village in the north end of the city, celebrated the Fourth by firing off a large number of fireworks. The celebration was very quiet and the residents of Billieca were very happy.

Rooms, Green Street. Tel. 1485.

NEXT SATURDAY, JULY 10th, AT 3 P. M.

THE RESIDENCE OF THE LATE ARTHUR STAPLES AT 55 FRANKLIN STREET, CONSISTING OF A 2½ STORY SLATED ROOF HOUSE WITH ABOUT 3650 SQUARE FEET OF LAND.

On the premises, regardless of the weather, I shall offer for sale the above residence. The house is all-story, slated roof, with 11 rooms, bath, pantry, large wash room, and unfinished attic. On the first floor there is a large parlor, with bay window, marble mantle, 2-3 papering, good sized sitting room, with bay window and marble mantle and fireplace, very nice dining room with oak door, large kitchen, pantry, bath, wash room, lavatory and back shed on the first floor. There are six very nice chambers on the next floor, one of the rooms having a sink and all connections so that it could be very easily arranged for a two-tenement house. Parlor, sitting room, dining room have black walnut doors, parlor doors being very handsomely inlaid. There is open plumbing, soapstone sink and wash trough, and set boiler in the wash room; gas furnace, hot furnace, being practically new, cemented cellar with brick cell bins. The house is in excellent shape on the inside and a coat of paint on the outside would put it in first class condition. Now then, while this house has been occupied as a private residence with a very little expense it could be made into an excellent two-tenement house. The lot has a good frontage on Franklin street, with an area of about 3550 square feet. The lot is all fenced in, and there is an automobile shed in the rear, the lot is all settled and concreted around the house. Now, for someone with a large family, or for someone who would like to make an investment in a two-tenement house, they should seek out this property. It is in an excellent location and adjoining the former residence of the late William H. Wiggin, and is the second property from Willie street. The property can be seen at any time by calling, and making inquiries from the auctioneer who is in full charge.

Terms: $100 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off.

GRAND OBSERVANCE

President Taft Goes to Attend
Lake Champlain Celebration

NEW YORK, July 6.—President Taft who arrived here from Norwich at 9 a. m. today, left at 7:45 for Albany enroute to the Lake Champlain celebration.

The president slept for nearly five hours this morning aboard his private car. His car was placed next to the bumper at the Buffalo end of the train. It was attached to the Adirondack and Montreal express which left at 7:15 a. m. for Albany.

Arriving at Albany shortly after 1 o'clock the president's car will be attached to the special train reaching there from Washington about the same time and bearing distinguished guests from Washington enroute to the Lake Champlain celebration. The president will spend this afternoon sightseeing at old Fort Ticonderoga and at Plattsburg and will spend the night at the Hotel Champlain at Bluff Point.

Tomorrow the celebration along the New York shore reaches its climax and a day of impressive ceremonies will be concluded with a banquet tendered by the governor and the New York state commission to President Taft. This banquet probably will be the most brilliant function of the celebration. It will be attended by the representatives of three great nations—England, France and the United States and at President Taft is expected to deliver his principal speech. He also may speak briefly at the Plattsburg ceremonies tomorrow afternoon where Senator Root will be the orator of the day.

The French ambassador, Mr. Jusserand, is among the guests from Washington who will spend Thursday in and around Burlington, Vt., leaving there early Thursday night in order to reach Washington Friday afternoon.

The trip of the special train arranged by the railway officials to bring the president's car from Norwich to New York furnished no little excitement when one of the windows in the day coach acting as a buffer between the Mayflower and the engine was struck with a missile and a number of pieces of broken glass flying through the air. A freight train was passing at the time and a large lump of coal slipping from one of the cars was hurled by the momentum of the train against the window.

A trainman sitting nearby was badly frightened but suffered no serious injury.

By noon the rain had stopped, the sun shone, and the prospects were that the program would be carried out. It had been arranged that the train carrying the president and party, including the French and British ambassadors, would stop at Addison Junction, a short distance from the old Fort. With the train stopped, the president, who was seated in the day coach, looked out of the window and saw a large crowd of people gathered on the shore. He was then taken to the west barracks where he will be received by Mrs. Stephen Pell and her father, Col. Robert Thompson, through whose instructions the old fort is being restored.

Later he will be escorted to the speaker's stand. After the ceremonies the president and party will go to the old Pell mansion known as the Pell pavilion where refreshments will be served. They will then be taken to the steamer Ticonderoga which will take them to Fort Henry where the special train will be boarded for Plattsburg.

HARRY K. THAW

Taken to White Plains on Hearing

FISHKILL LANDING, N. Y., July 6.—Harry K. Thaw was taken from the Matteawan asylum to White Plains, Westchester county, again today for a hearing before Justice Mills on Thaw's application for a writ of habeas corpus. Thaw, who is now sane, was taken from the asylum a month or more ago, ordering the authorities of the asylum to produce him in court for a determination of his sanity, but a hearing was delayed by the request of a representative of the state attorney general and of District Attorney Jerome that the hearing be transferred to New York county. The prisoner was in good spirits today and said he was hopeful of release from the asylum.

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Mary Glynn of Appleton Street

Mary Glynn, aged 65 years, died suddenly Saturday night at her home, 279 Appleton street. Heart disease was the cause of death.

The woman appeared to be in her usual good health during the day and was last seen alive about 9 o'clock. About 10:30 o'clock one of the occupants of the house found the woman apparently unconscious in a chair. Dr. Wm. M. Collins was summoned and after looking at her said that she had been dead for an hour.

Later Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs was called and viewed the body.

LOWELL RUNNER

Took the 10-Mile Race
at Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., July 6.—Henri Renaud, winner of the E. A. marathon this year, was defeated in his 15 mile race against a relay team of three men at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon. Renaud showed good form, making a remarkable spurt at the end. His three opponents, J. C. Silva of Chilton, Mass., Wilbur F. Maple of Manchester, N. H., and H. E. Swadlow of Concord, N. H., the first three men in the 20 miles race held here May 22, each running five miles.

Silva made a long gain on Renaud in his five miles and the other two maintained this, defeating Renaud by about half a mile. The cup was awarded to Silva for making the fastest five miles. His time was 21m. 55s. Maple followed with 31m. 55s., and Swadlow with 41m. 41s. Renaud's time was 1h. 24m. 35s.

The 10 miles open race, half on the road, was won by Arthur Gaudreault of Lowell. Gars Kitchins of Nashua was second, Albert Theroux of Nashua third and Stanley Williams of Nashua fourth. The time was 1h. 3m. 25s.

JUDGE FATALLY INJURED

DILLON, Mont., July 6.—Judge Everett J. Conger, one of the best known men of this part of the state and famed as the man who led the detail of soldiers who captured J. Wilkes Booth after the assassination of President Lincoln, was probably fatally injured yesterday by being run over by an auto.

T. C. Lee & Co. had the insurance on the store that was burned in East Merrimack street Saturday night, and also on the furniture in the house in Grand street, where a fire occurred.

CASE CONTINUED

BROOKTON, July 6.—The case of Thomas Vebukiewicz, married, charged with the murder of Stanislaw Tosinski, 23, was continued until Thursday in police court this morning, the suspect being held without bonds. A plea of not guilty was entered.

THE LATE REV. MICHAEL RONAN

Archbishop O'Connell Was Celebrant of the Mass—Many Clergymen Present at the Services—Knights of Columbus, Holy Name Society and Men of the Parish Escorted the Body

Mid the tolling of bells and the weeping of hundreds along the streets leading from St. Peter's church to the Boston & Maine depot, the remains of the late Rev. Michael Ronan, the beloved pastor of St. Peter's church, were tenderly borne away this noon from the scene of his earthly labors and conveyed in a special funeral train to Boston where they were consigned to their final resting place in Calvary cemetery.

That Fr. Ronan's death is widely and genuinely mourned was evidenced by the large number of people who viewed the remains as they lay in state in the church last evening and this morning. It is estimated that 25,000 people filed by the casket up to the time of the funeral services at 10 o'clock this morning.

The casket, exposed within the altar rail and the crowd passed through the aisles of the church, by the west and out through the rear exit in a steady stream up to midnight last night and again during the early hours this morning. Men and women of all denominations and from all parts of the city were present to pay their tribute of respect while many and fervent were the prayers that ascended for the repose of the soul of the beloved priest.

Two magnificent floral pieces and a few sprays were placed beneath the altar of the church. The most remarkable was a Roman wreath made of laurel and cotton flowers and similar in design and construction to floral pieces sent by a pope for the caskets of high church dignitaries or people in noble life. The design was secured not long ago by Mr. William T. Carroll, when he was in Rome, and the golden fruit was brought to this country by him. Another notable floral piece from the Sunday school to the choir of Christian doctrine of the parish, it is large and is composed of flowers, lilies of the valley and roses, and with purple ribbon.

There was also a large spray from Miss Catherine B. Butler of Lynn, N. Y.

Lying in State

The remains were removed from the parish residence to the church at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The casket was borne by the four and six bearers: Michael Connelley, Hugh J. Molloy, James E. Norton, Patrick J. Molloy, Michael Connelley, James Starr, Daniel Riley, James E. Connelley, William J. Day and James E. Connelley.

Early Morning Service

At 5 o'clock this morning high mass requiem was sung by Rev. John T. O'Brien for the working people of the city, and the church was crowded. The choir under the direction of Fred P. Haggerty rendered the Gregorian chant. At the offertory Prof. Haggerty sang "Domine Deus" and after the elevation Jas. E. Duggally, sang "Just Salvator Mundi." At 6 and 7 o'clock Rev. Fr. Mullin and Fr. Ronan sang low requiem masses with large congregations, and at 8 o'clock Rev. John J. Burns sang a requiem mass for the children.

At the conclusion of the 8 o'clock mass the altar was crowded with people waiting for an opportunity to view the casket and to attend the funeral services. Seats in the main aisle were reserved for poor people, but others were obliged to arrive early in order to

The glorious Fourth has come and gone and if what everybody says is true, it was the quietest Fourth in the history of the city. There was, in reality, no public observance of the day except the usual salutes, bell ringing and band concerts. But there was a great display of private fireworks and, as usual, a great reducing, no very serious accidents.

Funeral Mass
Promptly at 10 o'clock the long line of surpliced priests, emerging from the sacristy in double file, escorting the officers of the mass, the choir and organists, music and an Imper v. alence prevailed. The service opened with the chanting of the office for the dead by a choir of priests under the direction of Rev. M. Scannell of the cathedral, Boston, Mass. The mass was celebrated by Most Rev. William H. O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, assisted by Rev. Christopher J. O'Connell of Somerville; Rev. James T. Leven of Woburn and Rev. Robert Johnson of South Boston, deacons of honor; Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan of St. Peter's church, deacon of the mass; Rev. John Burns of St. Peter's church, sub-deacon of the mass; Rev. James Chittick, of Hyde Park, master of ceremonies; Rev. John T. O'Connell, assistant; Rev. Joseph Heardon of New Bedford, organist; Rev. Francis Cassidy of Brookline and Rev. Fredrick Gorman of Winthrop, acolytes, and Rev. John Corbett of Roslindale, thurifer.

Archbishop O'Connell occupied throne on the gospel side of the altar surrounded by the officers of the altar. Seated nearby was Rev. Peter Riqui brother of the deceased. Seated on the epistle side of the altar were Rt. Rev. P. J. Garrigan, bishop of Sioux Falls; Iowa; Rt. Rev. was the place de resistance and Spalding park held its banner throng. The crowd was the only real live thing during the forenoon and people who don't care any more about baseball than a farmer does about airships, went to Spalding park because the crowd was going that way. The attendance was estimated at 4500, and that's going some.

By stating that the celebration was a very quiet and a very sane one it is not to be understood that Lowell's enthusiasm was cooled in a flash. The lot of enthusiasm and a lot of patriotism on tap and it flowed quite freely at times. Everybody talked about the delightfulness of the weather and that helped some.

At about six o'clock the forenoon didn't take any particular harm and it didn't take the dark cloud long to show its silvery lining. Everybody was orderly, a fact with which the city.

Wigwagville Celebration

Wigwagville's celebration yesterday, of the glorious Fourth, was the greatest in the history of Wigwagville thanks to the Alpha Social club under whose auspices the celebration was conducted. During the afternoon the following program of sports was enjoyed by a crowd that numbered more than 500:

Three for boys under 7 years, Herbert Taylor, first, Ralph McQuade, second, girls under 7 years, Mary Morris, first, Helen Allen second; the spiced raw Eddie Westover and Peter Stockton girls race, 7 to 10 years, Alice Downey first, Sarah Westover second; boys shoe race, Charlie Downey, first, Chester Grant, second; girls shoe race, Ruth Stockton, first, Ruth Stockton, second, ladies' egg and spoon race, Mrs. W. G. Parker first, Mrs. John police were particularly pleased.

Some of the men were crowded out and at midnight the pent up energy was uncoiled and then there was a bang, bang, too, too season that shook the city. Four hours later the crowd had disappeared. Nature must be appeased and the hunters must be allowed to snatch a little nap. They were up and doing again at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon there was an exodus to the country and on many of the lines the cars ran on double time.

There were no big crowds. Picnics and outings were held at many of the ponds in the vicinity of this city and were well attended.

McCord second; boys' sack race, Eddie Westover first, Fred Ericson second; wheelbarrow race, Eddie second; 100 yard race, Eddie first; 200 yard for young men, Walter Brown first; David Allan second, distance 36 feet, inches; and driving contest for marbles, Indies, Mrs. David Allan first, Mrs. William Dooley second; threading needle for young ladies, Lillian Gendreau first; 100 yard race, Leo Gendreau first; under 5 years, Leo Gendreau first; Lizzie Farley second; peanut race, Martha Stokton first, Irene Miller second; long distance race, Charles Taylor first, Fred Whiting second.

The Band Concerts

There were five band concerts during the afternoon and evening. The Lowell Military band, James A. Murphy, leader, gave two concerts on the South Common, one from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and the other from 8 to 10 at night. The Merrimack band, thanks to the Merrimack Clothing Company, gave two concerts on the North Common from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 7.30 to 9 at night.

The Lowell Military band gave a concert at the city farm from 7 to 9 and there was a concert in Wiggwiltown in the evening. The concerts were largely of popular selections with the "Star Spangled Banner" for the finale.

The Lowell Military band, under the leadership of William Regan, and whose darkness prevailed over all Wiggwiltown, the fireworks display was ushered in and it was the real goods.

The National Fireworks Co. furnished the display. Arthur Carson was in command of the display.

The general committee of the Alpha club was: Clifford Grant, Thomas L. Wilde, William Dooley, William Brown, George Allan, David Allan, Thomas Dowrey.

O. M. I. Cadets' Bonfire

One of the features of the Fourth July celebration was the mammoth bonfire held by the O. M. I. Cadets.

Salutes and Bell Ringing

The official celebration opened at sunrise when nine militiamen in khaki, members of Co. C, Sixth regiment, drew the company cannon over to the North common before daybreak and were ready to greet the Old Guard and the birthday of the American liberty with the presidential salute of 21 guns.

The cannon was the brass Filipino gun which Capt. Alexander Greig had bought the company, and which Hon. Butler Ames had mounted for the company. The shots were fired at 10 minute intervals, and a salute of 45 guns, the national salute, was fired, and at night another presidential salute of 21 guns was fired.

Monday morning, just one minute after midnight, the match was applied to the big pyramid of combustible material, which was placed on the bank of the Merrimack river in Stockpile street, and for about an hour the sky was illuminated by the blaze. To make the bonfire more effective there was plenty of red fire and green cannon shells, and the flames rose high and when the flames reached the red fire the reflection could be seen for miles around.

The exploding of the firecrackers also added to the success of the affair.

At 10 o'clock the band of The Boston Hartley and John Baxter, in uniform, both members of the Cadets, and the scoured huckle calls intermittently.

The whole event was under the con-

The church and mill bells sounded in unison, or perhaps confusion would be the better word, but they sounded just the same and the sound was good.

Ayer City Celebration

Over in Ayer city things were doing. The day was ushered in with a mammoth celebration. Privates William Dossing, Arthur Sullivan, Archibald Koneg, and John McKay. The celebration attracted much attention and drew in only the thousands of people on the streets but also many in autos and carriages from all parts of the city. The day was so mammoth that it did not but until after 1.30 a. m. and the crowd stayed to see it all.

Rev. Dennis Sullivan, O. M., started the movement for the bonfire which was one of the biggest ever held in the city.

by Rev. Fr. Stannell. Owing to the fact that the annual retreat of the priests of the archdiocese is now on at Brighton, the full membership of the choir was not present and this fact also prevented other priests who ordinarily would have been present from attending. The music was sung without organ accompaniment and was most stately and impressive.

Archbishop O'Connell's Remarks.
At the conclusion of the mass and just before the final exhortation, Archbishop O'Connell delivered a short rule relative to eulogies over a departed priest and spoke briefly on the life of Fr. Roman. He said in part:
The death of Fr. Roman is not only a deep loss to this parish and community but also the entire country. His life was a life of education for all who came within his reach. He was an untiring worker for anything that concerned the glory of God and he literally spent himself in the service of the church, both in Boston and old St. James' church and here. Unkindness was never to him, but rather a never and an unkind word. He came here in the prime of his life under trying conditions. He found many things while the crowds had grown in Gori and Appleton streets through which the procession was to pass until it were almost completely blocked. The crowd increased materially at noon and with it the heat of the day. Just as the bells began to ring the age of deceased, the procession left St. Peter's church and proceeded south down Gorham street in the following order:
Platoon of Police, Lieut. Crossan, Marshal Danahy, P. Carroll, Capt. Philip McNulty, Lieut. Thomas J. O'Donnell, Company M, Ninth Regiment, High School Officers, Maj. Thos. Markham, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbian in form of cross, walking in the front of the crowd, Dr. T. C. Croft, organist.

that needed changing. He was too much of a gentleman to find fault and too big a man to criticise his predecessor or refer to the practical blunders with which he was confronted. He was too free to laugh and too ready to talk about them and he did so in his quiet way even as he did all things.

The hidden part of Mr. Roman's life was the most beautiful part of it and there's a great lesson to be drawn from his hidden charity. This church and house stand not more as a monument to him as do those years of secret charity. He did everything that ought to be expected and this church and house and the arrangements testify to the thoroughness of his work. He had plans for the future of which I have known. He died in the midst of his own, a laborer, God took him with his hands still with the glory of his calling.

His heart was filled with affection for God, for God's people, for his children and may the road lead toward him with eternal rest be the reward of the just.

There were few dry eyes in the large

TRIBUTES TO DEAD

Touching Pulpit References to Rev. Fr. Ronan's Death

In many of the churches Sunday touching reference was paid to the late pastor of St. Peter's church, Rev. Michael Ronan, who died at 1:05 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The sad announcement was made at all the masses in St. Peter's church, and deep sorrow was depicted upon the faces of all present, while at the close of Rev. John T. O'Brien's sermon on the 10:30 o'clock mass the whole congregation was in tears, many of them sobbing audibly. But an imperfect report of the reverend gentleman's sermon could be obtained, but he spoke in part as follows:

Today over this broad land of ours a mighty nation, filled with civic pride and love of country, pauses in its onward march to commemorate this glorious fourth day of July, which has become as an urn that overflows with the sacred treasures of the past, and to recall the heroes who sustained with their life blood the banner of liberty and made bright the stars on the sky of hope. It is just and proper to recall these dead heroes of our country because they have bequeathed to us all that we treasure: the constitution, the Declaration of Independence, the right of the victor to look upon the flag, the rights of the immigrant, the laws and reforms, and then we can well say that in all the achievements of our fathers, in their early struggle, in all the disasters, the have and death, it was loyalty to the cause that made them men, and sanctified and consecrated the soil of the nation with their blood. But all these accomplishments are transitory, they pass away, and we all thank God that we are heirs to a more blessed heritage than these earthly treasures; that we have greater joys in our lives than the holidays of a nation. We have days which speak to us of eternal deeds, of the mysteries of Christ, who has called us to be followers of the saints of God. Well does the church on this solemnity of the feast of Sts. Peter and Paul cry out to us, bidding us look up to those heroes who have lived the battles of God and are now wearing the eternal coronets of heaven.

Who were these saints? They were once human beings in the trappings of the human flesh; men, women, boys and girls. Their names are not all found in the calendar of martyrs, but their merits are known to God. After death their names and their memories are blessed by every faithful people. The saints in heaven are members of the church. Death has not cut the bond that held them to this life, but they are where the beatific vision constitutes their supreme happiness. They can see our trials and help us in our struggles.

What, you ask, are the characteristics of the saints on earth. We discern their greatness by an extraordinary elevation of their views, secondly by a sublime courage, and thirdly by their deeds.

Look at the heroes of the world, men of extraordinary talents, famous warriors, statesmen, writers, what has been the object of their labors? When not consecrated by religion they lived in the midst of alarm and excitement; they surrounded their names with the spread ruin, desolated provinces amid the ruin of homes and the cries of defenseless women and children to invest themselves in with some earthly power. Others again wasted themselves in midnight watching to acquire a superior name in science, or to display their learning and leave a name to posterity. Of the omnipotence of it all! What avail the conqueror to gain his possessions when in the end he becomes a handful of dust?

"The mighty Caesar turned to clay,
Doth stop a hole to keep the wind away."

What shall the men of learning retain of their powers or their genius when they and all their faculties are extinguished in death?

Look now to the heroes of the church—the saints. They looked upon the world not as a fleeting dwelling place but as an abode of exile. They knew that beyond the yawning mouth of the

ECZEMA

CAN BE PERMANENTLY CURED

If you are suffering from itching, burning Eczema, Proriasis, Urticaria, Pimples, Salt Rheum, etc., you can go on treating yourself externally for the rest of your natural life, and at best you will get only temporary relief. This works out advantageously for the exploiters of patent remedies who claim that diseases can be cured by ointments and ointments only. You may get ease for a while, and when the disease reasserts itself you go back to your druggist and buy more of this same remedy and thereby bring grief to the mill of its manufacturer. But are you cured? You know best; you have tried. Dr. Taylor's treatment commences with the blood, attacks the disease at its source, as you would a

WASHINGTON, July 6.—When the senate has completed its debate on the tariff schedules the bill will go to the joint conference committee of the senate and the house. The tentative list of house members who will comprise the committee includes Representatives Sereno E. Payne, New York, republican; Champ Clark, Missouri, democrat; E. J. Hill, Connecticut, republican; James M. Gilgus, Georgia, democrat; Samuel W. McCall, Massachusetts, republican; John Dalzell, Pennsylvania, republican; and Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama, democrat. Since President Taft's New Haven speech, in which he said his party must carry out its campaign pledges, there has been a growing belief that when the tariff bill reaches the conference committee many of the schedules that the senate has established will be reduced. There may also be a readjustment of the duties on raw materials, which caused such a fight in the upper branch of the congress. The majority of the probable house members of the committee are in favor of material reduction of the tariff, and now that the corporation tax amendment has found its way into the bill the position of the tariff reductionists is strengthened upon the theory that the corporation tax will make up for any shortage in revenues that the reduced tariff on necessities might incur.

for so many years the devoted pastor of St. Peter's church, the city of Lowell and all of its churches, Catholic and Protestant, have suffered a great loss. I esteemed him as a friend and a father in Christ. When he learned that I was to take a trip abroad, he himself suggested the giving of a letter of introduction to Mr. Kennedy, the president of the American college in Rome, through whom we had an audience with His Holiness Pope Pius X.

In the earnest and consecrated life of such a Christian priest as Rev. Michael Ronan, who "great about doing good," interested in the temporal and spiritual welfare of his flock, all Christians, regardless of sects, may rejoice and all may weep together in our common loss, and comfort one another with the thought and hope of the immortal life.

In what city but a Christian city could the representatives of so many different nationalities, races, tongues and creeds live together in peace? Personally, I love Lowell because of its French, German, Greek, Swiss, Portuguese, Syrian, and other races who are fast becoming American Christians and Christian citizens. We have something to learn from all men, and are indebted to all men. We need the help of all, of every race and creed in making our city a thoroughly Christian city.

BOXING BOUT

UNDER AUSPICES OF DRACUT ATHLETIC CLUB

A fast exhibition of wrestling and boxing was held before the members of the Dracut Athletic club last night at its clubhouse at Lakewood. The clubhouse is the old skating rink which has been refitted and remodeled.

The first exhibition was a wrestling match between Edward Letour and Alvin Richardson. After 15 minutes of fast work Richardson pinned his opponent's shoulders to the mat. The next event on the program was a sparring exhibition between Joe Flaherty and Henry Reynolds, the latter of Nashua. After six rounds the referee called the bout a draw.

Frank Lavigne, of Fall River, and Young Buster of Pawtucket, R. I. were scheduled for six rounds. The men weighed about 115 pounds and displayed surprising skill with the mits. Buster excelled in the later stages. Buster landed two blows to his opponent's one in the last two rounds, and it was apparent that he had the advantage when the bout ended.

Thomas Kelly was master of ceremonies.

WON FIRST PRIZE PUT TO DEATH

Garde Frontenac of Man Accused of Killing Lowell Got Prize Detective

AUBURN, N. Y., July 6.—Giuseppe Sanducci, who murdered Joseph Do-rando, an Italian detective, at Belfast, N. Y., on Dec. 21, 1907, was put to death in the electric chair in Auburn prison this morning. The execution was remarkable for the celerity with which it was carried out.

Two shocks were used to kill, one lasting for three seconds over a minute and the second being of less than ten seconds' duration.

Capt. Albert Bergeron was in command, with First Lieut. Horace Desjardins and Second Lieut. Zedigne Gregoire under him.

The contest, which took place in the afternoon, was preceded by a parade of some 20 guards from all over New England, affiliated with the brigade. Speeches in the open air at Highland park followed the contest.

GROTON

Groton had a very modest celebration of the national holiday. There was a parade in the morning and sports in the afternoon.

The "barrel race" which numbered 15 places were marshaled by B. A. Dill. The first prize went to Martin Brannen while Leslie West captured second in row.

A prize was also awarded Mrs. Arthur Wood and other ladies who represented Oak Falls with Mrs. Wood as grand marshal. Other prizes were given the Kine Fisher football team. In the sports the prizes were as follows:

Running race, Robert Sanguin (first), Harry Wood (second), Andrew Wood (third), George Wood (fourth), Daniel Wood (fifth), Charles Wood (sixth), and Lawrence Wood (seventh). Short put, Harry Wood (first), Arthur Wood (second), George Wood (third), Daniel Wood (fourth), Charles Wood (fifth), and Lawrence Wood (sixth). ACCUSED SLAYER

NEW YORK, July 6.—In the hope of capturing Leon Ling, the accused slayer of Elsie Sigel, the police have just sailed to several cities on the Mediterranean coast and to points through the Suez canal and Indian ocean to hold up the German steamship Helene Rickmers and search it for the fugitive. Information is almost conclusive, the police say, that Ling, who was arrested in Philadelphia on June 11 and 12, was committed to the record detectives found that the Helene Rickmers left Philadelphia June 12 before sailing her command, Captain Oetting had shipped several Chinese as part of the crew. Among these Chinese men who were engaged only a short time before sailing was one well dressed man who spoke good English and who professed to be an efficient cook. Leon Ling, who spoke English fluently and was a master cook.

The Helene Rickmers was the only vessel which left Philadelphia at that time. The vessel is now believed to be either approaching or just out of the Suez. It was last reported at Tarifa, a seaport town of Spain, fifteen miles southwest from Gibraltar on June 26. Central office detectives would not discuss how the information came to them but advices from Philadelphia say that the agents for the steamship observed the report of Captain Oetting concerning the listing of a Chinese cook, and they compared their list with the description of Leon Ling and decided to notify the authorities. Captain Carey of the homicide bureau was surprised when he heard that this information had leaked out, but he said he regarded it as the best clue he had yet had as to the flight of Leon. As soon as the police learned that the Helene Rickmers was bound for Japan and that it had shipped a Chinese cook they cabled every port between Tarifa, Spain and Japan at which the German steamer might report.

THE FIRE DEPT.

Not Kept Busy on the Fourth

Despite the fact that Saturday night was the "Night Before," the fire department had comparatively little to do. Three alarms were sounded between midnight and early Sunday morning. One of these was caused by a drunken man throwing a match in a collection of explosives in a store window near the old city hotel in East Merrimack street. The alarm was sent in from box 131.

In the store at the time that the lighted match was thrown were several customers and together with proprietor they had to beat a hasty retreat. Charles Jelma was among the number and he jumped through a window and sustained a cut on the left knee. Dr. William Collins was called to the man's home and found it necessary to take two stitches in the wound.

For something that wasn't on the program it certainly was a great display, but it had given out by the time the firemen had arrived on the scene. The store was on fire but the department made short work of the blaze.

While on the way to the fire the protective from Warren street and one of the wagons from the Central station had a narrow escape from collision in Merrimack square.

Another alarm from the same box was sounded at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The presence of the department, however, was not required as a few buckets of water had squelched the fire.

SIX FATALITIES

Attended Celebration of the Fourth in New England

BOSTON, July 6.—The unwilling contribution of New England to the country's list of deaths caused directly or indirectly by the observance of the Fourth of July was comparatively small yesterday, but six persons coming within the broadest interpretation of such fatalities. Of the six deaths, but one, that of Mrs. Marguerite Hauck, at Medford, was due to the use of fireworks, while firecrackers caused two other deaths, although neither was a direct result of the observance. The day's toll from New England includes the following victims:

Edward Mayley, 18 years old, Boston, drowned while rowing on the Charles river in a regatta.
Mrs. Marguerite Hauck, 40 years old, of Medford, burned to death by fireworks.
Benjamin C. Meuse, 7 years old, Watertown, killed by train while collecting material for a bonfire.
James Corcoran, 23 years old, of Lowell, at Portland, Me., killed by dropping from a balloon.
Stanislav Posninski, 25 years old, of Brockton, head blown off by shotgun.

SIX LIVES LOST

Man and Children Were Burned to Death

RICHMOND, Va., July 6.—H. F. Strange, aged 74, a Confederate veteran, and five children, Vernie, aged 14; Beatrice, aged 7; Violet, aged 6; Cecil, aged 5, and Henry, aged 18 months, all children of S. E. Hamlett, were burned to death in the Hamlett home at South Boston early yesterday.

NURSES' ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION
A pleasing entertainment was given Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the Nurses' Alumnae association. After the regular business meeting two papers were read, one by Mrs. Foster H. Smith on "The Book-Worm Disasters," and the other by Miss Stella Redmond on "Sick Infants and Children." Refreshments were served, after which followed an informal reception by the Sisters of Charity in charge at the hospital.

GRAND LAWN FETE

At French Orphanage Attended by 5000 People

The grounds of the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street was the scene of great activity yesterday, the event being the fete Champetre given for the benefit of the orphanage. The day was all that could be desired, and it was estimated that at least 5000 persons visited the grounds during the day. It was a glad sight and a happy time for Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., the organizer of the event. It was stated that the fete would net the orphanage over $1000.

There was a lot of amusement during the day and all present seemed to be enjoying themselves to their hearts' content. As spacious as are the grounds you could find lads and lassies searching for room enough to play some innocent little game. The whole was a scene of mirth and joy.

The French American orchestra, E. A. McKersher, leader, furnished music for the occasion and opened the festivities with a musical overture at 9 o'clock. Perhaps the most exciting feature of the sports was a Marathon race in which Napoleon Vignani won first prize, and Hector Asselin second.

Chorus singing by the young women attendants on the refreshment tables was a pretty feature and was much enjoyed, as were the songs and dances of the little orphans themselves. About two of the little tots danced a Maypole dance around a ribbon bedecked pole.

To the natural beauty of the surroundings there was added the touch of artificial decoration. Large flags wrapped the facade of the building and floated from the broad piazzas.

At the close of the festivities Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., made brief remarks, thanking all who had contributed to the success of the affair. He also took occasion to announce that Mrs. Abraham L'Anglais was the victor in a contest for selling the greatest number of badges of admission to the grounds. There were three contestants for the prize, a handsome framed portrait of Fr. Barrette, Mrs. L'Anglais, who brought in $208; Mrs. Euchariste Champagne, who brought in $92, and Mrs. Joseph Albert, who brought in $56.

The fete was given under the general management of Fr. Barrette and under the auspices of St. Anne's sodality, of which he is chaplain. The reception and organization committee was composed of Mrs. Euchariste Champagne, president; Mrs. Elzevir H. Choquette, Mrs. Desire Lacombe, Mrs. Charles H. Boisvert and Mrs. W. Parent.

The other committees, with attendants in charge of the various arrangements, were as follows:

THE FIRST REDUCTION SALE

At the Smart Clothes Shop Starts Friday Next

The FIRST reduction sale—do you realize that only once in a business life can that be said—that only once during a firm's existence, can you choose from ALL NEW GOODS at reduced prices?

Because it IS the first, it should command attention. Not only is everything new this season, but a big part of the goods has been in the shop less than a month.

The D. S. O'BRIEN CO. is grateful for a business beyond expectations during the few months of its existence. From now on attention will be given to disposing of all spring stocks to prepare for Fall Goods.

Limited store space prohibits the carrying of any but active stocks here. Each season's goods MUST be sold in its season. We positively can't carry them over. We haven't the room. It isn't a question of choice but of necessity.

These considerations have weighed with us in marking prices. They should with you when choosing. Every Fancy Spring Suit and every Spring Trouser in stock can be had beginning Friday, at a price at least one-fourth less than usual. Details in Thursday's papers.

LITTLE HOPE FOR MESSINA

The recent shocks in Messina show that it is hazardous to build or to reside in Messina or vicinity. Any new city raised on the ruins of the old is sure at some future date to meet a similar fate.

ACTION OF CONGRESS DISAPPOINTING

Sometime ago it was predicted as a sort of reproach that congress would remain in session till the Fourth of July. The Fourth has passed and congress is still in session with slight hopes of an immediate adjournment. Time was wasted in discussion of tariff schedules with the sole result that they were fixed as Senator Aldrich and the republican stand-patters desired. The special session must soon close and yet the tariff bill decided upon does not fulfill the pledges of the republican party to the country. It is revision upward instead of downward as the people were led to expect. It is a betrayal of the public confidence and a violation of republican party pledges. The only way in which this result can be changed is by the veto of the president, but that is not expected. One of the eleventh hour developments is the advocacy of a corporation tax of two per cent. as a means of forestalling an income tax which would call for an annual contribution from most of the United States senators.

THE REV. FR. RONAN.

In the death of Rev. Fr. Ronan of St. Peter's church, the city has lost a zealous, devout and indefatigable pastor, a public spirited and patriotic citizen, a man of deep sympathy and untiring energy for the uplifting of the weak and the erring, for the relief of suffering and the protection of orphaned or destitute children. He was a man of great ability in many directions, an able administrator, a wise counsellor in domestic and business affairs, while in religious matters his sublime faith combined with his simplicity of character and his untiring solicitude for his flock endeared him to his people, the young as well as the old. The great work of his life was spiritual and is therefore invisible, but all those who knew him intimately or who were lifted to a higher life by his pastoral ministrations will say that this was the chief work of his pious life. But the chief visible monument left to keep his memory green in the hearts of his people is the magnificent temple on Gorham street in which his refined taste, his architectural skill, his religious zeal and his wonderful enthusiasm in the service of the Master are all imperishably enshrined. Rev. Father Ronan will be missed in Lowell, missed as a priest, as a citizen and as a great power for good in the community.

PROGRESS TOWARDS SANITY ON THE FOURTH.

Never perhaps in the last fifty years has such an effort been made for a safe and sane observance of the Fourth as in the present instance. The result, we believe, is generally gratifying as the number of casualties, fatal and otherwise, has been greatly reduced from that of past years.

The reckless riot of din and noise does nobody any good. It is nerve-racking to everybody and none will be discommoded in the least by a change that will cling to the spectacular if need be, but at the same time eliminate the pandemonium that usually reigns about the streets from the night before until quite late the day of the celebration.

Let us be thankful that as a result of an organized attempt to suppress unnecessary noises on the Fourth there has been a very noticeable absence of that reckless abandon which rendered our streets and public parks a veritable bedlam. There was also a more guarded use of fireworks with the result that there have been fewer accidents from the use of explosives; the doctors and the hospitals had less to do and everybody is better pleased while fewer have to nurse dangerous wounds.

With a like advance towards saner methods of celebrating the Fourth for each of the next few years, the annual slaughter will be stopped and Independence day will be observed in a sensible, enjoyable, and at the same time appropriate manner.

THE PROGRESS OF THE AGE

The progress of the age as indicated by inventions is really marvelous. The electric telegraph is not such an old invention, many of our old residents remembering its installation in this country.

The telephone came next to excite our wonder by linking mankind more closely in providing a means of communicating verbally at a considerable distance.

But both these inventions have been cast into the shade by the invention or discovery of wireless telegraphy. This system is undoubtedly but in its infancy and when fully developed, it may be applied to perform feats that are now considered impossible.

In other lines inventions have made equal progress. The bicycle has been in common use but a brief period, comparatively speaking. The time has arrived, however, when it is being superseded by motor cycles and automobiles. The application of motors to such vehicles is sure to become more common and eventually to revolutionize present day methods of rapid transit. Motor cars are likely to be built in the near future and to be used with or without tracks for special purposes. On the heels of the automobile and motor car comes the flying machine, still in a crude shape, it is true, but nevertheless giving promise of speedy development that assures the success of aerial navigation in the near future.

The feat of reaching the north pole with a flying machine can in all probability be accomplished without great difficulty if not without danger, so that science will be advanced in many different ways as the result of these inventions. What will be the next great invention? Nobody knows, but certain it is, that such inventions will be continuous, that man will always be progressive, always striving for better and for greater achievements. His inventive genius, however, steps at one task, namely, that of producing perpetual motion. That seems to be reserved for the Creator and while we contemplate the regularity of the heavenly bodies in their fixed orbits, we realize, in spite of man's ingenuity, the nothingness of his achievements in comparison with a single act of the Omnipotent.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is probably true that two can live as cheaply as one, if the one spends a great deal of money.

The man who always says what he thinks ought always to be very careful what he thinks.

It is only on the return trip, after the honeymoon is over, that he can be persuaded to leave his little bride and go forward to the smoking car.

A pessimist is a man who, if by some strange chance he should ever get to heaven, would begin working in a day or two if the golden streets weren't paved.

Cleopatra may have been fat and freckled, and she may have walked with a clumsy waddle, but most men don't think of her that way.

Even the man who keeps a cash account can't tell where all his money goes to.

The more you learn, the more you know, especially when you have been crossed in love, and are learning to forget.

To be sure, the farmer may lose a little money sometimes when he goes down into the gold-buck market in the city, but he gets it all back again in the summer when the bunch of man comes up into the country for a month's rest on the farm.

Even if there were no such thing as money in the world, men like Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Carnegie would invent it, and then start out to get it all.

Trying to live so as to please the neighbors is about as fruitless a task as it is to try to get the neighbors to live so as to please you.

Even though the world owes every one a living, it shows no present signs of going into bankruptcy.

A good cry often refreshes a woman, but it is a mean man who will make a woman cry just for the purpose of refreshing her.

It's all right for the fellow to say: "Come Mamie let's be chums," but both Mamie and the fellow should know how to draw the chum line. It is too near the sweetheart line to be treated indifferently.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

The founder of the Holy Name society in the Roman Catholic church was Stephen Therry, a layman, who died a few days ago at his home in New York at the age of 77 years. He lived to see the association which originated grew within half a century from a handful of young men to an organization of more than a million members.

This is in the Pamirs, part of the roof of the world, a height of 21,350 feet on the watershed between the Hindu Kush and the Pamirs, on the edge of Turkistan. The last two thousand feet was along a ridge which in places

But this climber was not all. The Workman party was in useful collaboration for some months with three special glacier experts, mapping the country as the Swiss Alps have been mapped, and making "curious and important discoveries" in regard to certain "pinnacles of ice" that have been found in the Andes and South Africa.

A memorial bronze tablet in honor of Colonel John Trumbull, the painter, was formally dedicated in New Haven last Sunday by the David Humphreys branch of the Connecticut society of the Sons of the American Revolution. It is affixed to the exterior wall of the building of the Yale School of Fine Arts, where Trumbull lies buried, and where the most important collection of his paintings is preserved. Trumbull was born at Lebanon, Ct., in 1756, and died in New York in 1843. He was graduated from Harvard, and served with distinction in the revolutionary war as adjutant at Washington and Gates. In 1783 he returned to London to study under Benjamin West. There he painted his "Battle of Bunker's Hill" and "The Death of Montgomery at Quebec." In 1789 he returned to America and painted his "North from Gibraltar," "Burgoyne's Capitulation," "Surrender of Lord Cornwallis," etc. He was one of the first presidents of the National Academy of Design.

C. C. James, deputy minister of agriculture of Canada, has gone to England to start negotiations looking to the solution of the problem of getting domestic servants for homes in the province of Ontario. He hopes to induce enough servants to emigrate from England to supply the need. Commenting on his visit, The London Telegraph says: "It is probable that there is no part of the British empire in which there are at the present moment better or more profitable openings than there are in Ontario for three classes of immigrants: farmers possessed of small capital, farm laborers and domestic servants."

Wilson Vance, father of Louis Joseph Vance, well known for his books, "The Black Bag" and "The Brass Bowl," is himself the author of a novel to be published under the title of "Big John Baldwin." Big John is a Puritan gentleman who has experiences as a colonist in America and also under Cromwell in England.

An unconfirmed statement is made in London, according to a special cable dispatch to the New York Sun, that the Marquis of Lansdowne has followed the example of the Duke of Norfolk in selling a famous work of art. This is Rembrandt's picture of "The Mill," painted in 1650, which depicts the sunset rays lighting up a lonely windmill upon a ruined bastion. The picture has had varied owners, but has been in the possession of the Lansdowne family as their country seat, Bowood, for more than one hundred years. They bought it originally for 300 guineas ($4200). The present rumor, which is believed in London art circles, mentions a sum approaching $500,000 as the price it has now fetched. It is pointed out that this is the highest price ever paid for a picture in England, and that the Marquis of Lansdowne, who is a collector of art, is selling it for a sum which would be a great help to the cause of art.

The picture of "The Mill" is the tradition that Rembrandt was born in his father's windmill. Leiden, though it is now held that there is no evidence on which to base this legend. The fact is that at the time of the artist's birth his father lived in the Weddesteg in Leiden, where he owned a good house. This is a little, narrow building, running down to the river Rhine. The mill belonging to Rembrandt's father was on the bastion opposite; but there is no good ground for the legend which relates that Rembrandt lived in his studio. Houbraken, who apparently invented most of the picturesque stories about Rembrandt's early life, said that this was his birthplace and first studio. The fine Rembrandt monument which was unveiled with much pomp and ceremony in Leiden in the summer of 1906 is situated just across the river from the Weddesteg.

MAYOR BUSSE OF CHICAGO, WHO UNDERWENT OPERATION

FRED A. BUSSE

CHICAGO, July 4.—Mayor Fred A. Busse of Chicago was in a critical condition following an operation for appendicitis at Mercy hospital. He had suffered from nervousness for many months preceding the operation and was in a weakened condition when he went under the knife. Mr. Busse was born in Chicago in 1858 and received his education in the public schools. He went into politics as soon as he was grown and after holding several clerkships in city departments was elected to the legislature. He was successively state senator, state treasurer, postmaster of Chicago and mayor.

where the ambulance was waiting to remove him to St. John's hospital. At the hospital the doctors did everything in their power to save Mr. Busse's life, but it was seen that his skull was badly fractured and they entertained little hope for his recovery. He regained consciousness long enough to recognize his parents, although he was in terrible agony, and died at 11:15, one hour and a half after the accident occurred.

Examiner J. V. Meigs signed the death certificate, death due to a fractured skull received by accident. Ort was a young man, and was to observe his 22nd birthday anniversary yesterday. He was a spare man on the road, having worked on the electric but a short time, and was in charge of an extra when the accident occurred. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ort, and three sisters, Mary, Josephine and Emma, all living at 25 Broadway.

The body was removed to the rooms of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

$25,000 DAMAGE

Caused by Fire in Portland, Me.

PORTLAND, Me., July 4.—A fire which threatened the manufacturing district in the heart of the business section of Portland broke out a few minutes before midnight last night, a general alarm calling out all the apparatus. The fire broke out in the large wooden building at 32-34 Plum street occupied as a repair shop by the P. O. Bailey Carriage Co.

The fire was under control at 1 o'clock. The damage to buildings and contents will not exceed $25,000 and was partly covered by insurance. The fire was kept from spreading to adjoining buildings.

ONE MAN DYING

Serious Stabbing Affray at a Dance

LYNN, July 4.—One man is dying, another may die, and a third is in a serious condition at the Lynn hospital as the result of a stabbing affray at a dance in Swampscott last night where a party of Italians became jealous at rival attentions to a woman. A fourth person, Theodore Credeli, aged 35, became the last injured, is locked up at the police station charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

The injured men are Tony Marrara, aged 32, who was almost disemboweled, and cannot live; State Antonio, aged 30, who received multiple wounds and may not live; and Rabiola Tondora, aged 29, who is cut in the left knee, left arm and shoulder and is in a serious condition.

LAWN PARTY

HELD BY THE LADIES OF CENTRALVILLE M. E. CHURCH

The Ladies' Aid society of the Centralville M. E. church held a patriotic lawn party yesterday afternoon and evening. The salesladies were well patronized and there was a patriotic program in the evening.

The entertainment program was under the direction of Rev. J. T. Kelly, and comprised the reading by Mr. Russell of the "Independence Ball," the singing of patriotic hymns and national songs, and a closing tableau illustrating the singing of "America."

Miss Molly Johnson appearing in the tableau with the American flag.

The following ladies, each with several assistants, presided at the tables: Candy, Mrs. Sidell; ice cream, Mrs. John Smith; sandwiches, Mrs. Ryan; drinks, Mrs. Callahan; peanuts and chips, Mrs. Holt.

Fireworks added to the festivity in the evening.

MR. ROOSEVELT

Heard His Prowess Told in Song

NAIROBI, British East Africa, July 1.—Colonel Roosevelt heard his prowess as a lion killer told in song and sketch at the entertainment given on Saturday night by the "Nairobi Folies," which Mr. Roosevelt and his son Kermit attended as the guests of His Excellency, Mr. F. J. Jackson, C. G. C. M. G., acting governor, as an evening's diversion after dining at government house. The topical songs dealing with Mr. Roosevelt were a feature of the occasion and at each allusion made to himself Col. Roosevelt's laugh rang out above the applause and laughter of the rest of the audience.

The song describing Colonel Roosevelt's lion hunting was sung by Miss Shooter in the course of a sketch entitled "A tale of the Chase." It ran as follows:

"FELIS LEO"

A lion lurked in his lonely lair, As African lions do, For he liked to be where he could get a share, Of a nice little buck with a slice of luck.

In our wonderful nature zoo, His large inside he might feed with zebras or hartebeest instead, "There isn't a sort of doubt," said he, "This diet's exceedingly good for me, 'For I grow fat, fat, fatter, 'What on earth does it mat, mat, matter, 'If the way that I creep, on the beasts in their sleep, 'Makes the poor things scat, scat, scatter."

He hunted game in the moonshine bright, With never a thought of harm, But he got quite a fright when there hove in sight, Teddarned to the teeth with a knife and spear.

And a rifle beneath his arm, The Colonel plugged him with a laugh, While Kermit took his photograph, Said he, "Those Wall Street boys would cry, 'If the knew how near I'd been to die, 'Oh this country's bull, bull, bull, 'I've enjoyed it full, full, fully, 'For it cures the best they can show in the West, 'That's so wild and wool, wool, wooly.'" (British East Africa) recounted some of Mr. Roosevelt's experiences in the colony as follows:

(With apologies to Kipling.)

At the port of Kilindini, Longestestard across the main; We welcomed Teddy, Roosevelt, As we hope to do again.

And the rain it fell in torrents, And the world seemed far from gay; But we did our best to greet him in our way in B. E. A.

He travelled up the railway, And he said the sights were grand, And he also said "That's Bull's," As we well can understand.

For the game is here in thousands, And it's here we have him stay; Just to see giraffes and rhinos.

Near the rail in B. E. A. We heard of hand-fed lions, And of rhinos on the chain; How he bravely faced all dangers, And he heasts has slain; Still, we're nothing heard but rum-mors.

That's a truth we must confess; We have no truthful story for; He shut out all the press.

Yes, he shut out all the press, And he left them there to guess; They raved, and growled, and grumbled, They were left in such a mess!

But that's all passed and done with, For they were not far away; And their news is scattered broadcast.

Over all the world today, It is nice to be polite; But the New York papers had it On the previous Sunday night.

Oh! it really was a frost, And one finds it to his cost, It is cries to bask the press men, He is very often lost.

PRESIDENT TAFT MANY ACCIDENTS

Sees the Liberty of Faith Still Advancing Michael Sondyn Had Narrow Escape From Being Killed

NORWICH, Conn., July 6.—President Taft was the chief attraction yesterday in the celebration of the 25th anniversary of this historic town. In an address to the people, following a splendid military parade and civic display, the president, finding a theme in the church influence in the building up of Norwich, said that the church was the only power that could be expected to bring about the religious reform.

He pleaded that every man should be allowed to worship God in his own way. The president declared that the church was the only power that could be expected to bring about the religious reform.

"We have passed beyond that now," said the president, "and are coming more and more to realize the right of the individual to worship God as he may choose."

The president's address was largely historical in character. The day was replete with historic incidents.

The president was a prohibitionist. Several hundred persons took part in the tableaux. The Indian dances, the battle between the tribes, the capture of the Sachem by the British, the death of the Sachem, and the portrayal of the march of historic events. The fight of the Indians was carried out with great fidelity and detail and ever while the president looked on from the back of the stand.

After witnessing the pageant, the president was driven to the grave of Uncas in Sachem street, where a monument stands to his memory as the good friend of the white man. The president also was shown many other points of interest.

The president, arriving from Beverly by special train at 10 o'clock a. m., was driven direct to the pagant at Rockwell terrace. After his sight-seeing tour he lunched with W. Tracy Williams at Yantic.

Late in the afternoon a parade, which was notable in many of its features, addressed the people from the reviewing stand, held a reception in the Rockingham memorial and witnessed last night a brilliant display of fireworks.

The president dined with Mr. Williams and lunched at the Williams estate. Mr. Taft also made a time at the head of the parade, being immediately followed by the entire battalion of midshipmen from the United States naval academy at Annapolis. The cadets are on their summer cruise and left their ships at New London.

After reviewing the parade, President Taft was introduced by Mr. E. B. Weeks and spoke in part as follows:

"It is a great pleasure to come back to this beautiful town. I like to call it a town because while you make a distinction between city and town, the term town suggests its wonderful history. Well, may it be called the town of New England, for its beauties today and its sweet memories of the past justify the use of that term and if I were a Norwich man I would hug it to my bosom. There is something about the town differing from most towns whose history I know. It is the individuality of the town itself. There are other towns that have had noted individuals who have made history. Norwich has had noted individuals whose characters continued through three great crises having given a character and an individuality to the town itself."

One of the things that the history of this town suggests is the character of the government that you have had.

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bardonia, Ky.—"I suffered from irregularity of female troubles for a long time. Doctors had failed to help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and I decided to try it. It cured my trouble and made me well and strong, so that I can do all my own work." Mrs. J. H. Bardsley, Bardonia, Ky.

Another Woman Cured. Christiana, Tenn.—"I suffered from the worst form of female trouble so that at times I thought I could not live, and my nerves were in a dreadful condition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me, and made me feel like a different woman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold to suffering women."—Mrs. Mary Wooten, R.F.D. 2.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of female ill, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. It is the standard for all forms of female ill, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, fibroids, tumors, inflammation, irregularities, backache, and nervous prostration.

We never publish a testimonial letter without the special permission of the writer.

In the early days. In its way it was almost theocracy.

"We speak with great satisfaction of the fact that our ancestors, and I claim New England ancestry, came to this country in order to establish freedom of religion. Well, if you are going to establish freedom of religion, you must establish freedom of their own religion and not the freedom of anybody else's religion. The truth is that in those days such a thing as freedom of religion was not understood."

But we have passed beyond that and out of the friction of the past we have developed a freedom of religion that comes naturally and logically as we went on to free institutions. It came from those very men who built up your community and made its character.

Now think of the influence in a community of God-fearing men with free character, with power to condemn wrong and uphold right, and then you can understand how Norwich has survived and preserved an individuality.

"We hear a great deal of discussion of free government and references made to the Declaration of Independence which this day celebrates. And some people so construe that instrument that they would have it mean that any body of men or children or women are born with the right to frame a government as soon as they begin to talk. Now, that is not true. Self-government has been fought out in the history of this world and by certain races has been hampered out by a thousand years of struggle. It is a right that they have to govern themselves until they have sense and self-restraint enough to know what is their interest and to give every other man all that is coming to him according to right and justice."

"Now, what was true with respect to our ancestors is also true in respect to many races in this world today. They have to be led on and taught the principle and lesson of self-government. Our ancestors by a wise negligence in home government for nearly 200 years have been the best prepared people there were in the world for self-government."

The president and party left here at 10:50 p. m. for New York.

MAN DROWNED

As Result of Leaky Boat at Long Pond

Old Gabrielson, aged 75 years, was drowned Sunday morning in Long Pond, Littleton. His companions, Glen Salmon and Walter Bolman, each 16 years old, were saved.

The three entered a rowboat in the morning to take a ride around the pond. The boat was leaky and a sail which had been raised on a pole was used in order not to necessitate the use of oars. As the wind filled the sail the boat took in water rapidly through the leaky sides.

The men in the boat soon realized that they were in serious danger and the two boys decided to abandon the boat. Old Gabrielson, however, who was not a swimmer, was seized by Salmon and assisted to the pole which had served as a mast. This was sufficient to support the exhausted youth until he could be rescued.

On being pulled out of Gabrielson sank as soon as he struck the water and his body and oars came to the surface. Bolman, who could not swim, sank immediately, but as he came up was seized by Salmon and assisted to the pole which had served as a mast. This was sufficient to support the exhausted youth until he could be rescued.

Salmon and Bolman were rescued by the two boys and taken to the shore. The body of Gabrielson was recovered and taken to the home of his son in Portland, where he was laid out for burial.

Gabrielson was a farmer and the son of Nelson H. Whitehead in Littleton and was a son of a son.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Thomas H. Bond, formerly of Littleton and Miss Margaret Stoughton, wife of the late Mr. Stoughton, were married Sunday at the parsonage of the Rev. W. George Mullin, Littleton. The bride was a daughter of the late Mr. Stoughton and the groom was a son of the late Mr. Stoughton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. George Mullin. The bride was a daughter of the late Mr. Stoughton and the groom was a son of the late Mr. Stoughton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. George Mullin.

Lowell, as usual, had her accidents, though there were not so many as in previous years. While some were severe none was fatal. Besides the number reported at the local hospitals there were many minor accidents which were treated either at home or by a doctor.

Thomas Kelley, aged 15 years of 122 Perry street and John Kennedy, 16 years, of 32 Keene street, were both badly burned by the premature explosion of powder. Kelley and Kennedy together with Harry Bradley, 17, and Fred Donovan, 16, had been out all night celebrating and yesterday morning about 8 o'clock found themselves in Davis square. Kelley had a pasteboard box filled with powder and the quartet were debating on the best place to set off the powder when in some unexplained manner it became ignited and Kelley and Kennedy were badly burned about the face and body. They were hustled to the Emergency hospital in Tyler street where their burns were dressed.

His Badly Torn

Michael Sondyn, residing at 37 Church street, was badly injured Sunday from being killed as a result of being hit by a fragment of a bursting cannon.

Sondyn was preparing to take a walk with his wife and about 7:30 was standing against a fence in Church street waiting for her. Over in the open land of the Boston & Maine railroad at the foot of Williams street a Polish resident, who has been in the habit of shooting off a cannon every Fourth, loaded the weapon to the muzzle and then applied a match to the fuse. There must have been a flaw in the cannon or else the charge was too heavy for the "shooting iron" burst and the flying fragments went in every direction. One fragment, weighing about a quarter of a pound, hit Sondyn in the left hip.

It broke no bones, but it made a bad hip out of it, and Sondyn went to the Emergency hospital where at mid afternoon the fragment, imbedded in the flesh had not been discovered. The police went on the trail of the Pole who shot the cannon.

Face Filled With Powder

Carelessness on the part of Edgar Kennedy resulted in Irene Davis, having her face filled with powder as the result of the accident. Kennedy, a pistol filled with blank cartridges. The Davis girl met Kennedy in Middlesex street and the young man pointing the pistol at the girl said: "I am going to shoot you." Then the pistol went off and the little girl received the charge of burned powder in the face, burning her badly and leaving one side of her face, probably permanently. The burns were dressed at the Emergency hospital.

Hand Lacerated

Walter McNulty, 14, of 7 North St., was fooling with a blank cartridge and it exploded, giving him a laceration of the left hand. The Emergency hospital took care of the wound.

Hand Burned

Frank Davis, of 45 John St., had his hand filled with powder from an explosion and it required an operation at St. John's hospital.

Lost a Finger

Victor Smilana, of 78 Richmond avenue was shot with a gun in the index finger of the left hand and at

HAND BLOWN OFF STRUCK BY AUTO

Joseph Flannery Tried to Fire Small Cannon

Joseph Flannery, aged 41 years, and employed at the Hamilton Mfg. Co., had his hand torn almost to shreds while examining a toy cannon Sunday afternoon. He was hurried to the Emergency hospital for treatment, where everything possible in the way of medical and surgical treatment was brought into use, but it is thought that he will lose the hand.

Flannery was passing by a crowd of children Sunday afternoon and watched them trying to fire off a toy cannon. One of the children requested him to help them celebrate, and the man took the cannon in his hand to fire it off. The machine exploded, tearing his hand to shreds, and nearly severing it from his arm.

CANOBIE LAKE THEATRE.

The theatrical season at Canobie Lake Park opened Saturday with two large audiences who were immensely pleased with the opening.

Of course, the new theatre called forth commendation. There has been a great change from past seasons. Over the centre of the large auditorium has been placed a roof which fully protects the seats. It is waterproof but still admits the light. The stage has been renovated and new scenery installed and the lighting arrangements have been increased. The attaches are neatly uniformed.

The orchestra which is another innovation, added greatly to the enjoyment of the performance.

The production for the current week is a snappy musical farce, entitled "Bradshaw's Troubles" which tells a very funny story, bristled with complications and into which a number of musical surprises are introduced. There is but one act, but from start to finish the action is fast and furious, and the interest never lags. The members of the company proved very clever and no doubt they will be favorites very quickly.

A SOLDIER'S MONUMENT

Col. Edwin D. Metcalf, a prominent manufacturer of Andover, N. H., is to present a beautiful soldiers' monument to the town of Westford. His father was the first man to enlist from Westford when the war broke out. It is expected that the dedication of the monument will take place Memorial Day.

St. John's hospital it was found necessary to amputate the finger.

Powder Burn

Peter Juris of 78 Richmond avenue got powder into the index and second fingers of the left hand and a trip to St. John's hospital became necessary.

Thumb Injured

N. T. Duffy of 69 Bartlett street hurt his thumb by exploding powder and the wound had to be dressed at St. John's hospital.

Wound in Hand

John Foote of 69 Chapel street received a gunshot wound in the palm of his hand. The wound was dressed at St. John's hospital.

Cartridge Exploded

Fred Lovejoy of 7 Noble's court had a blank cartridge explode in his hand and he was taken to the Lowell hospital for treatment.

Face Badly Burned

George H. Jennell, aged 22 years, and living at 9 Railroad street, was the first injured person reported from the hospitals. He received his injury at midnight Saturday night on the South common.

He was fooling with a large cannon cracker and held it in his hand too long. It exploded near his face, burning his right cheek badly and badly lacerating his lips. In addition to this, he may lose his left eye. The doctors say that he will be disfigured for life.

Explosion in His Face

Albert Stacey of North Chelmsford was badly burned about the face and eyes by the explosion of a cannon cracker which he held too long in his hand. But for the fact that he closed his eyes about the time the explosion occurred he might have lost the sight of one or both of his eyes.

Blank Cartridge Wound

Mizael Jodoin was wounded in the right forearm Sunday by a blank cartridge, which was accidentally fired in his shop in Aiken street by a young man who was handling a firearm. The wound, though not of a serious nature, was very painful. Mr. Jodoin was treated at the Red Cross pharmacy nearby.

Little Girl Burned

Nellie Daley, a little girl aged 12, living at 21 Adams street, went to the Emergency hospital with several burns on the head, resulting from the use of firecrackers. Her wounds were easily dressed.

Cracker Exploded

John Walsh of 5 Watson street had a narrow escape from being badly hurt last night. He was standing on the sidewalk near the corner of Lawrence and Westcott streets when somebody threw a large cannon cracker directly behind him. The cracker exploded and Walsh was thrown to the sidewalk. He was taken to the rooms of Higgins Bros., undertakers nearby, and an examination showed that he had numerous burns about the legs. He was taken later to his home.

Gun Exploded

Gustaf Johnson, 14 years old, of 30 Corbett street, was celebrating yesterday morning with a revolver, loaded with blanks. In some manner Gustaf got the gun into his left hand and it exploded, embedding some powder and wadding in the palm of his right hand. He was taken to the home of Dr. J. E. Albert Johnson, 134 Moore street, where the painful injuries were dressed.

George Smith Hurt by Cowardly Gang

George Smith, aged 41 years, and a resident of Newburyport, Mass., was struck and badly hurt by an automobile Saturday night while on his way to Littleton where he is employed.

Smith had been in Lowell during the evening and went by electric cars as far as Forge Village, intending to walk from there to Littleton.

While on the road an automobile filled with students ran him down and then drove away without waiting to ascertain the extent of his injuries. Friends of the man found him lying in the road and brought him to the Emergency hospital in this city, where it was found that he had two broken ribs and several minor injuries. He was later removed to his home. The identity of the party in the automobile is unknown.

Scalp Wound

Jeremiah Foley, an employee of the W. H. Ward Contracting company, while at work on one of the Lowell streets Sunday morning, received a scalp wound from a stone which fell from a 15 foot building on his head. He was taken to the Emergency hospital where his injury was dressed, several stitches being required to close the wound. Foley is 35 years of age.

Broke His Leg

Frederick Haynes, of 215 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, while coming out in Billerica, fell and broke his right leg. The leg was set at the Emergency hospital and the man returned to his home in Arlington.

SENATE AND THE HOUSE WHOSE DUTY IT WILL be to attempt to bring the two bodies into agreement on the measure.

Gossip has it that Senator Aldrich will pick besides himself as the representative of the republicans in the senate. Hale of Maine, Penrose of Pennsylvania; Burrows of Michigan and Smoot of Utah. The democratic senators who will participate in the conference probably will be Daniels of Virginia, Money of Mississippi and Bailey of Texas.

In the house, Speaker Cannon, according to the reports, probably will select Payne of New York, Datzell of Pennsylvania, Boutelle of Illinois, McCull of Massachusetts and either Calderhead of Kansas or Needham of California as the republican members and Champ Clark of Missouri, Underwood of Alabama and Wright of Georgia as the democratic members.

BUT ONE ALARM

OF FIRE YESTERDAY, THAT DUE TO FIRECRACKERS

Despite the fact that the glorious Fourth was celebrated yesterday, there was but one fire in Lowell and that did not amount to much. It came within an acre, however, of causing serious injury. On the return to the engine house the chemical from Westford street tipped near the corner of Nichols and Westcott streets and threw the driver and two other men from the wagon. Fortunately they escaped with slight injuries and the wagon was not damaged.

EXTRA

JUDGE HADLEY

Sails Tomorrow on the Canadian for Europe

Judge Samuel P. Hadley will leave Boston at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the Canadian of the Leyland line for a trip to Europe. His principal object in making the trip is to enjoy the sea voyage and also to accompany his two nieces, the Misses Hill, who are to attend the summer school at Oxford.

With the judge and his nieces will be Miss Caisse of this city and Mrs. Huntress of Concord, N. H.

As to what places, if any, he will visit besides London and Oxford he has not yet made up his mind. His daughter, Grace, and Mrs. Hiram Whitney are travelling in Europe and were last heard of in Wales. He expects that they will be in Holland or Paris when he reaches England and if such is the case he will pay them a visit.

For many years past, Judge Hadley has made the trip across the water principally for the sea voyage which he greatly enjoys.

TWO MEN GROUND TO PIECES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 6.—Two men were ground to pieces by trains near this city during the early hours of the morning today and identification was not established until later in the day. Thomas Fagan was walking on the track near Hartford avenue on the Pascoag branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad at 1:40 a. m. when he was struck and killed. His body was found several hours later. Almost the same instant Patrick McIntyre, 50, of Pleasant street, Fall River, was run down near the Warren station and instantly killed. John Noon who was with him was perhaps fatally injured. The two men were not found until about four o'clock.

TAGGART'S NAME
Brought Into Records of Ella
Gingie's Trial

CHICAGO, July 6.—The name of Tom Taggart of French Lick Springs, Ind., former chairman of the democratic national committee, was brought into the record of the Ella Gingie trial in Judge Brennan's court here today.

The young Irish lace-maker on cross examination told of the alleged search of her room by Miss Agnes Barrett, her accuser, and the late Mrs. O'Connell looking for lace which Miss Barrett claimed Miss Gingie had stolen. This brought the story around to Miss Gingie's visit to Miss Barrett's room at the Welles Hotel on a subsequent occasion when, according to Miss Gingie, she was forcibly disrobed by Miss Barrett and Miss Kenyon.

"Did you fight against them?" Assistant State Attorney Scott asked.

"Yes, until I was worn out with crying and my exertions."

"Was any man mentioned?"

"Yes."

"Who was it?"

"It was Tom Taggart, I believe."

"Are you sure that was the name?"

"Yes."

"You knew he was proprietor of French Lick Springs?"

"Yes."

"Are you sure that you heard that name there?"

"Yes."

"Isn't it a fact you were told that the name would make a sensation in your story?"

"No."

"Who mentioned the name?"

"Miss Barrett. She said if Taggart were only here."

Last Friday Miss Gingie testified that she was told she could have plenty of money, good clothes and no work if she would go to French Lick Springs.

"What did you think when Miss Barrett told you the advantages of this visit?" Mr. Scott asked.

"I thought she meant I was to marry a man."

CASEY BROTHERS

Lowell Boys Home From Panama

Mr. George Casey, manager of the Lowell team, is entertaining his two brothers, Messrs. William and Austin Casey, from Panama, where both hold responsible positions with the government. William at Empire and Austin at Columbia.

William Casey is an old friend of the family of the Lowell team and met him for the first time since he has been back yesterday morning when the surprised ball player thought the crowd had opened and produced his old friend. Before leaving for the state, William Casey had a long talk with Jimmie Casey, formerly of the Lowell team, in which Jimmie expressed a desire to return to the states. Since then Manager Casey has wired him and in all probability he will be here soon.

Mr. Casey corroborates the statement made yesterday by William Casey who has been visiting in the city.

BIG OIL PLANT

Threatened With Destruction by Fire

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 6.—It is reported that the plant of the Ohio Oil Co., near Martinsville, is threatened with destruction by fire, started by lightning striking one of the 25,000 gallon tanks. The Vandell R. R. Co. has sent a special train carrying 50 workmen from here to Martinsville.

At 2:30 o'clock the fire was still burning. About one-fourth of the oil from the burning tank has been pumped off and it was hoped that an explosion could be averted.

SEN. BURKETT

Wants Benefit Societies
Exempted

WASHINGTON, July 6.—An amendment proposed by Senator Burkett exempting beneficial societies organized on the lodge principle of the tariff bill precipitated a debate on the exact time that such a provision should take effect as soon as the bill was taken up in the senate today. After considerable debate an act was offered exempting from tax internal revenue societies and organizations exclusively for religious and charitable or educational purposes.

Amendments offered by Mr. Lodge were agreed to. These provisions revised existing laws. One of them provides for the levying of a discriminatory duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem on goods imported in vessels not of the United States, another covered goods imported from contiguous countries such as Canada and the West Indies and not manufactured in such countries and still another extended from two to six months in any one year the period during which domestic built foreign vessels may engage in the coastwise trade.

The United States is relieved from all reciprocal obligations toward foreign nations in the matter of tonnage due by an amendment offered by Mr. Frye and agreed to.

Senator Frye's amendment has the effect of repealing the present law authorizing the president to suspend a tonnage tax against vessels belonging to a country which does not impose a duty on American vessels equivalent to our tonnage tax law.

CHAS. F. BARKER

Former Checker Champion is Dead

BOSTON, July 6.—It became known today that Charles Francis Barker, for many years the world's checker champion, died in this city last night. He had been ill for some time with gas-tritis. He was born in this city 57 years ago. Before he was 20 years of age he had met most of the famous checker players of the country and had defeated many of them. In 1878 he won the championship of America by defeating M. C. Priest of Philadelphia and A. S. Hoffman of Providence. In 1891 he won the world's championship by defeating Wylie at Glasgow, Scotland. Since that time he has defended his title successfully year after year.

HER LEG BROKEN

Eva Croteau Met With Injury

Eva Croteau, aged about 12 years, was run over by a wood team at the corner of Moody and Aiken streets shortly after noon today. The little girl was crossing the street and did not notice the approaching wagon. The driver of the wagon did not see the girl either, the first intimation that an accident was imminent being when he saw the little one directly in front of the horse. Before he could bring the animal to a standstill the little girl was knocked down and one of the wheels passed over her leg.

She was taken to a drug store nearby where it was found she was suffering from a broken leg. The ambulance was later summoned and she was removed to her home.

SOLEMN SERVICE PETER F. CONATON

Funeral of the Late Rev. Fr. Lowell Plumber Severely Injured in Auto Accident

THE LATE REV. MICHAEL RONAN

Archbishop O'Connell Was Celebrant of the Mass—Many Clergymen Present at the Services—Knights of Columbus, Holy Name Society and Men of the Parish Escorted the Body

With the tolling of bells and the weeping of hundreds along the streets leading from St. Peter's church to the Boston & Maine depot, the remains of the late Rev. Michael Ronan, the beloved pastor of St. Peter's church, were tenderly borne away this noon from the scene of his earthly labors and conveyed in a special funeral train to Boston where they were consigned to their final resting place in Calvary cemetery.

That Fr. Ronan's death is widely and genuinely mourned was evidenced by the large number of people who packed the church last evening and this morning. It is estimated that 25,000 people filed by the casket up to the time of the funeral services at 10 o'clock this morning.

The casket reposed within the altar rail and the crowd passed through the aisles of the church by the casket and out through the rear exit in a steady stream up to midnight. Last night and again during the early hours this morning, men and women of all denominations and from all parts of the city were present to pay their tribute of respect while many and fervent were the prayers that ascended for the repose of the soul of the beloved priest.

Two magnificent floral pieces and a few sprays were placed beneath the high altar of the church. The most remarkable was a Roman wreath, made of laurel and golden fruit, and similar in design and construction to floral pieces sent by 6,000 people of all high church dignitaries of every noble line. The design was executed not long ago by Mr. William T. Carroll, when he was in Rome, and the golden fruit was brought to this country by him. Another notable floral piece from the Sunday school teachers of Christian doctrine of the parish is a large arch composed of 150,000 roses of the valley and roses of the north and south.

There was also a large spray from Miss Catherine Bunker of Syracuse, N. Y.

Lying in State

The remains were removed from the parochial residence to the church at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The casket was borne by the following active bearers: Michael Corbett, Hugh J. McHugh, James E. Norton, Patrick G. McHugh, Michael McHugh, James E. Starr, Daniel Riley, James E. Duggan, William J. Daly and James E. Duggan.

Following them were the priests of the parish: Rev. W. George Mullin, Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, Rev. John Burns and Rev. John T. O'Brien, and Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's church; Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. L. of the Immaculate Conception church; Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. L. of the Sacred Heart church; Rev. Joseph LeFevre, O. M. L. pastor of St. Joseph's church; Rev. Edmund T. Schindler, pastor of St. John's church; North Chelmsford, and Rev. Fr. Dorby of St. Peter's church, Dorchester. Rev. Fr. O'Brien was the cross bearer, and the acolytes were Rev. Frs. Heffernan and Burns. The office of the dead was chanted in the church, after the procession had arrived at the main altar and the casket had been placed in position.

Throughout the day and night watchers selected from the men of the parish kept vigil beside the casket. There were eighty watchers in charge of Michael H. McDonough.

Early Morning Service

At 5 o'clock this morning high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John O'Brien for the working people of the city, and the church was crowded. The choir under the direction of Prof. P. P. Haggerty rendered the Gregorian chant, "Gloria, In Excelsis" and after the elevation, Rev. Fr. McDonough sang "Jesu Salvator Mundi." At 6 and 8 o'clock Rev. Frs. Mullin and Heffernan sang low requiem masses with large congregations, and at 8 o'clock Rev. John J. Burns sang a requiem mass for the children.

At the conclusion of the 8 o'clock mass the street was crowded with people waiting for an opportunity to view the remains and to attend the funeral services. Seats in the main aisle were reserved for row holders, but others were obliged to arrive early in order to Peter F. Conaton, of the firm of Farrill & Conaton, plumbers, was seriously injured at Chelms Falls, Sunday morning, as a result of being thrown from an automobile which had collided with an electric car. It was first thought that Mr. Conaton might be fatally injured, but an examination showed that his injuries were confined to a couple of scalp wounds and a dislocated shoulder.

Frank G. Cover, of the firm of Frank G. Cover & Co., grain dealers, who was operating the machine, escaped unhurt, as did a Thomas Perkins. George Paige of East street, Chelms Falls, who was entertaining the other three men, was in the tonneau of the machine with Mr. Conaton and he also suffered injuries, being cut about the face and head.

Messrs. Conaton and Cover had been invited by Mr. Paige to spend the holiday with him and it was while he was showing them about the place that the accident occurred.

The accident was caused by Mr. Cover, who was operating the automobile, attempting to avoid running down two men who stepped directly in the path of the machine. The car was speeding along at a fairly good clip and just as the corner of Grape and Fruit streets was reached the two men suddenly left the side of the street and started to cross over. Mr. Cover in trying to avoid striking the pedestrians started his machine to one side with the result that it collided with an electric car.

Doctors were summoned and the men were taken into nearby houses. The automobile was coming from the Falls on the right hand side of the road and the occupants did not notice that a car was coming down Grape street.

Either the car stopped too suddenly or there was a miscalculation in distance, for the automobile struck the car.

The angle of the tracks on this corner is very acute, allowing for the protrusion of the ends of the cars, and there is barely enough room for an automobile to pass to the right of the tracks when coming from the Falls. It was practically impossible to make the turn on the left side of the car, even if the car had not stopped.

EMPEROR AND KING MEET

BERLIN, July 6.—Emperor William on board the imperial yacht, the Hohenzollern, met Gustave, the king of Sweden, at Sassinitz, Isle of Rugen, today to inaugurate the steam ferry for passenger trains between Sassinitz and Trelleborg, Sweden. The two rulers, accompanied by their suites, inspected one of the ferry boats, after which Emperor William entertained the Swedish king at breakfast. In a brief speech, proposing the health of King Gustave, the emperor expressed the hope that the ferries would prove a most valuable link in trade and travel between the two countries.

SEDERQUIST, BARRY & CO'S DEBT

BOSTON, July 6.—Receiver F. Weed of the brokerage firm of Sederquist, Barry & Co., of this city and New York with fifteen branch offices in New England, reported today that he found liabilities amounting to $660,097 with 1222 claimants to the assets which the firm places at $127,367. Most of the creditors are residents of New England, many living in this city, Worcester, Fitchburg, Haverhill, Lowell, Lawrence, Portland and many other smaller cities and towns in Maine.

TARIFF AMENDMENT

FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF $25,000

GLOUCESTER, July 5.—Two large business firms, T. Hunt, furniture, and J. Gray, cutlery, occupying a block on Main street, suffered severe losses by fire today, while adjoining property was saved through the energetic work of the entire fire department assisted by 200 sailors from the battleship Maine who happened to be ashore on leave. The building and property was valued at $45,000 but the loss was estimated at $25,000.

HUSBAND AND WIFE DROWNED

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 6.—The man and woman who yesterday ended their lives by going in a boat over the dam in the St. Joseph's river here were H. Lindeman and wife of Chicago. They were on their wedding trip. It was learned today that they had registered early yesterday at the South Bend hotel and Lindeman told the clerk that he and Mrs. Lindeman had been married at St. Joseph, Mich., the day before. The bodies have not been recovered.

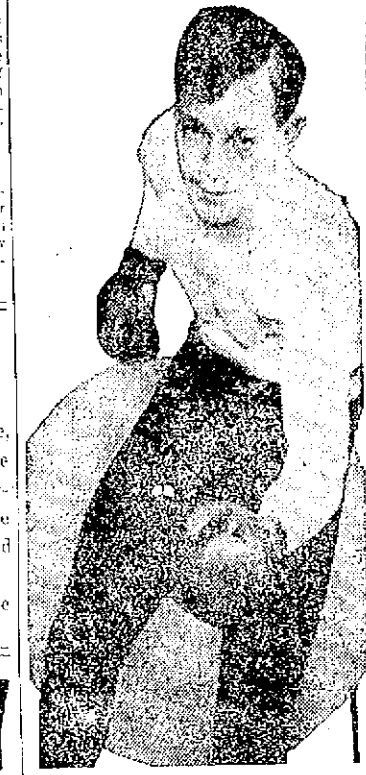

"ROSE OF NEW ENGLAND"

NORWICH, Conn., July 6.—"The Rose of New England" as the historic old town of Norwich was affectionately called by President Taft in his speech to the people yesterday and is so referred to by every one who lives here, awoke full of enthusiasm for the third and last day of the 250th anniversary celebration. There was much favorable comment on the procession with which the arrangements of yesterday were carried out, the presence of the president and the state officers here not being marred by a single incident of an inharmonious nature. This morning the program was continued with an exhibition by the fire department, an automobile parade, and the dedication of a memorial fountain at Little Plains by Faith Trumbull, chapter, D. A. R. Commemorative exercises including an address by Associate Justice Samuel O. Prentice of the supreme court of Connecticut occurred this afternoon.

"FOURTH OF JULY"

How the Day Was Celebrated in This City

The glorious Fourth has come and gone and if what everybody says is true, it was the quietest Fourth in the history of the city. There was, in reality, no public observance of the day except the usual salutes, bell ringing and band concerts. But there was a great display of private fireworks and it was said with great rejoicing, no very serious accidents.

Wigginville Celebration

Wigginville's celebration yesterday, of the glorious Fourth, was the greatest in the history of Wigginville, thanks to the Alpha Social club under whose auspices the celebration was conducted. During the afternoon the following program of sports was enjoyed by a crowd that numbered more than 500.

The Band Concerts

There were five band concerts during the afternoon and evening. The Lowell Military band, James A. Murphy, leader, gave two concerts on the South Common, one from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and the other from 8 to 10 at night. The Cadet band, under the leadership of William Regan, and when darkness prevailed over all Wigginville, the fireworks display was ushered in and it was the real good.

Ayer City Celebration

Over in Ayer city things were doing the day was ushered in with a mammoth bonfire held by the O. M. I. Cadets. On Monday morning, just one minute after midnight, the match was applied to a big pyramid of combustible material, which was placed on the bank of the Merrimack river in Stockpots and for about an hour the sky was illuminated by the blaze. To make the bonfire more effective there was plenty of red fire and giant cannon crackers in the collection of fuel, and when the flames reached the red fire the reflection could be seen for miles around.

TRIBUTES TO DEAD

Touching Pulpit References to Rev. Fr. Ronan's Death

In many of the churches Sunday touching reference was paid to the late pastor of St. Peter's church, Rev. Michael Ronan, who died at 1:35 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The sad announcement was made at all the masses in St. Peter's church, and deep sorrow was depicted upon the faces of all present, while at the close of Rev. John T. O'Brien's sermon at the 10:30 o'clock mass the whole congregation was in tears, many of them sobbing audibly. But an imperfect report of the Reverend gentleman's sermon could be obtained, but he spoke in part as follows:

Today over this broad land of ours a mighty nation, filled with civic pride and love of country, pauses in its onward march to commemorate this glorious fourth day of July, which has become an annual day of rejoicing, and a sacred and perfumed treasure, and to recall the heroes who sustained with their life blood the banner of liberty and made bright the stars on the sky of hope. It is just and proper to recall these dead heroes of our country because they have bequeathed to us all these treasures: The states, the constitution, the Declaration of Independence. Lift up your eyes and look upon these lakes and rivers, orchards and vineyards and pastures, the flocks and the herds. Think of the halls of science, the galleries of art, libraries, schools, hospitals, asylums and the churches with their lofty towers, think of the victory for the slave, the refuge for the immigrant, the laws and reforms, and then we can well say that in all the achievements of our fathers, in their early struggle, in all the disaster, the havoc and death, it was loyalty to union and liberty that made them the sanctify and consecrate the soil of the nation with their blood. But all these accomplishments are transitory. They pass away, and we all thank God that we are heirs to a more blessed heritage than these earthly treasures; that we have greater days in our lives than the holidays of a nation. We have days which speak to us of eternal deeds, of the mysteries of Christ, who has called us to be followers of the saints of God. Well does the church on this solemnity of the feast of Sts. Peter and Paul cry out to us, bidding us look up to those heroes who have won the battles of God and are now wearing the eternal crowns of heaven.

Who were these saints? They were once human beings in the trappings of the human flesh; men, women, boys and girls. Their names are not all found in the calendar of martyrs, but their names are known to God. After death their names are in their memories are blessed by every faithful people. The saints in heaven are members of the church. Death has cut the bond that held them to this life, but they are where the beatific vision constitutes their supreme happiness. They can see our trials and help us in our struggles.

What you ask, are the characteristics of the saints on earth. We discern their greatness by an extraordinary elevation of their views, secondly by a sublime courage, and thirdly by their deeds. Look at the heroes of the world, men of extraordinary talents, famous warriors, statesmen, writers, what has been the object of their labors? When not consecrated by religion they lived in the midst of alarm and excitement; they squandered their treasures, they spread ruin, desolated provinces amid the ruin of homes and the cries of defenseless women and children to invoke themselves in with some earthly power. Others again wasted their selves in midnight watching to acquire a superior name in science, or to display their learning and leave a name to posterity. Oh the emptiness of it all! What avail the conqueror to gain his possessions when in the end he becomes a handful of dust?

"The mighty Caesar turned to clay,
Dust to a hole to keep the wind away."

What shall the men of learning retain of their powers or their genius when they and all their faculties are extinguished in death?—The saints. They looked upon the world not as a lasting dwelling place but as an abode of exile. They knew that beyond the yawning mouth of the

ECZEMA CAN BE PERMANENTLY CURED

If you are suffering from itching, burning Eczema, Psoriasis, Ulcers, Pimples, Salt Rheum, etc., you can go on creating yourself externally for the rest of your natural life, and at best you will get only temporary relief. This works out advantageously for the exploiters of patent remedies who claim that diseases can be cured by lotions and ointments only. You may get ease for a while, and when the disease reasserts itself you go back to your druggist and buy more of this same remedy and thereby bring grief to the mill of its manufacturer. But are you cured? You know best; you have tried. Dr. Taylor's treatment commences with the blood, attacks the disease at its source, as you would a

SOME HOUSE MEMBERS WHO WILL DISCUSS NEW TARIFF BILL IN JOINT COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, July 6.—When the senate has completed its debate on the tariff schedules the bill will go to the joint conference committee of the senate and the house. The tentative list of house members who will comprise the committee includes representatives Sereno E. Payne, New York, republican; Champ Clark, Missouri, democrat; E. J. Hill, Connecticut, republican; Henry S. Boutell, Illinois, democrat; Samuel W. McCall, Massachusetts, republican; John Dalzell, Pennsylvania, republican; and Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama, democrat. Since President Taft's New Haven speech, in which he said his party must carry out its campaign pledges, there has been a growing belief that when the tariff bill reaches the conference committee many of the schedules that the senate has established will be reduced. There may also be a readjustment of the duties on raw materials, which caused such a fight in the upper branch of the congress. The majority of the probable house members of the committee are in favor of material reduction of the tariff, and now that the corporation tax amendment has found its way into the bill the position of the tariff reductionists is strengthened upon the theory that the corporation tax will make up for any shortage in revenues that the reduced tariff on necessities might incur.

WON FIRST PRIZE PUT TO DEATH

Garde Frontenac of Man Accused of Killing Lowell Got Prize

Garde Frontenac of this city went to Brockton yesterday and won first prize at the annual military contest of the French American Volunteer Brigade of New England. The prize drill was held at Highland park in the presence of a large number of people.

The Lowell men did themselves proud, carrying off the prize over the heads of crack Fall River guards, who were among the brigade's first promoters. This prize consists of a gold medal or a pennant, or a cash equivalent of $50 at the choice of the winner.

Capt. Albert Bergeron was in command with First Lieut. Horace Deslats and Second Lieut. Zolique Gregoire under him.

The contest, which took place in the afternoon, was preceded by a parade of some 20 guards from all over New England, affiliated with the brigade. Speeches in the open air at Highland park followed the contest.

BOXING BOUT

UNDER AUSPICES OF DRACUT ATHLETIC CLUB

A fast exhibition of wrestling and boxing was held before the members of the Dracut Athletic club last night at its clubhouse at Lakeview. The clubhouse is the old skating rink which has been repaired and remodeled.

The first exhibition was a wrestling match between Edward Lefour and Aime Richardson. After 14 minutes of fast work Richardson pinned his opponent's shoulders to the mat.

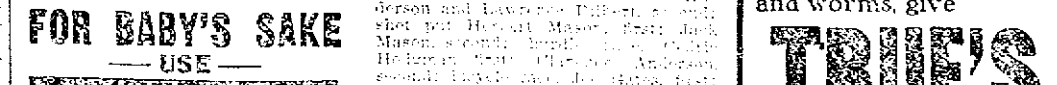

The next event on the program was a sparring exhibition between Joe Flaherty and Henry Reynolds, the latter of Nashua. After six rounds the referee called the bout a draw.

Frank Lavigne of Fall River and Young Buster of Pawtucket, R. I. were scheduled for six rounds. The match weighed about 115 pounds and displayed surprising skill with the mitts. Buster excelling in the latter stages. Buster landed two blows to his opponent's eye in the first two rounds, and it was apparent that he had the advantage when the bout ended.

Thomas Scully was master of ceremonies.

ACCUSED SLAYER

Of Elsie Sigel May be on German Steamship

NEW YORK, July 6.—In the hope of capturing Leon Ling, the accused slayer of Elsie Sigel, the police have just cabled to sovereign cities on the Mediterranean coast and to points through the Suez canal and Indian ocean to hold up the German steamship Helene Rickmers and search it for the fugitive. Information is almost conclusive, the police say, that Ling shipped from Philadelphia between June 11 and 12. The murder was committed on June 9. In looking up the record detectives found that the Helene Rickmers left Philadelphia June 12 bound for Itoasaki, Japan, and that before sailing her commander, Captain Oetting had shipped several Chinese as part of the crew. Among these Chinese men were engaged only a short time before sailing was one well dressed man who spoke good English and who professed to be an efficient cook. Leon Ling wore good clothes, spoke English fluently and was a master cook.

The Helene Rickmers was the only vessel which left Philadelphia at that time. The vessel is now believed to be either approaching or just out of the Straits. It was last reported at Tarifa, a seaport town of Spain, fifteen miles southwest from Gibraltar on June 26. Central office detectives would not discuss how the information came to them, but advices from Philadelphia say that the agents for the steamship company observed the report of Captain Oetting concerning the listing of a Chinese cook, and they compared their list with the description of Leon Ling and decided to notify the authorities. Captain Carey of the homelike Helene Rickmers was surprised when he heard that this information had leaked out, but he said he regarded it as the best clue he had yet had as to the flight of Leon. As soon as the police learned that the Helene Rickmers was bound for Japan and that it had shipped a Chinese cook they cabled every port between Tarifa, Spain and Japan at which the German steamer might report.

THE FIRE DEPT.

Not Kept Busy on the Fourth

Despite the fact that Saturday night was the "Night Before," the fire department had comparatively little to do. Three alarms were sounded between midnight and early Sunday morning. One of these was caused by a drunken man throwing a match in a collection of explosives in a store window near the old city hotel in East Merrimack street. The alarm was sent in from box 131.

In the store at the time that the lighted match was thrown were several customers and together with the proprietor they had to beat a hasty retreat. Charles Jelenc was among the number and he jumped through a window and sustained a cut on the left knee. Dr. William Collins was called to the man's home and found it necessary to take two stitches in the wound.

For something that wasn't on the program it certainly was a great display, but it had given out by the time the firemen had arrived on the scene. The store was on fire but the department made short work of the blaze. While on the way to the fire the protective from Warren street and one of the wagons from the Central fire station had a narrow escape from collision in Merrimack square.

Another alarm from the same box was sounded at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning. The presence of the department, however, was not required as a few buckets of water had quenched the fire.

SIX FATALITIES

Attended Celebration of the Fourth in New England

BOSTON, July 6.—The unwilling contribution of New England to the country's list of deaths caused directly or indirectly by the observance of the Fourth of July was comparatively small yesterday, but six persons coming within the broadest interpretation of such fatalities. Of the six deaths, but one, that of Mrs. Margaret Hauskalt, at Medford, was due to the use of fireworks, while fireworks caused two other deaths, although neither was a direct result of the observance. The day's toll from New England includes the following victims:

Edward Morley, 18 years old, Boston; drowned while rowing on the Charles river in a regatta.
Mrs. Margaret Hauskalt, 40 years old, of Medford; burned to death by fireworks.
Benjamin C. Meuse, 7 years old, Watertown; killed by train while collecting material for a bonfire.
James Corcoran, 28 years old, of Lowell, at Portland, Me.; killed by dropping from a balcony.
Stanislaw Poshinski, 25 years old, of Brockton; head blown off by shotgun.
Alphonse Gideon, 11 years old, of Tiverton, R. I.; killed by stray bullet, probably fired by celebrator.

The number of minor injuries, some of which may yet result in death, is large, but it is believed much smaller than the average.

Large fires were few in number, one at Rumford Falls, Me., which started in timber from a firecracker, causing a damage of $100,000 to lumber and paper mills and material.

SIX LIVES LOST

Man and Children Were Burned to Death

RICHMOND, Va., July 6.—H. E. Strange, aged 54, a Confederate veteran, and five children, Verma, aged 14; Beatrice, aged 7; Violet, aged 6; Cecil, aged 3, and Henry, aged 15 months, all children of S. E. Hamlett, were burned to death in the Hamlett home at South Boston early yesterday.

NURSES' ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION
A pleasing entertainment was given Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the Nurses' Alumnae association. After the regular business meeting two papers were read, one by Mrs. Foster B. Smith on "The Book-Worm Diseases," and the other by Miss Stella Redmond on "Sick Infants and Children." Refreshments were served, after which followed an informal reception by the Sisters of Charity in charge at the hospital.

SKETCHES AT THE FETE CHAMPETRE AT THE FRENCH ORPHANAGE

GRAND LAWN FETE

At French Orphanage Attended by 5000 People

The grounds of the French American orphanage in Pawtucket street was the scene of great activity yesterday, the event being the fete Champetre given for the benefit of the orphanage. The day was all that could be desired, and it was estimated that at least 5000 persons visited the grounds during the day. It was a glad sight and a happy time for Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., the organizer of the event. It was stated that the fete would net the orphanage over $1000.

There was a lot of amusement during the day and all present seemed to be enjoying themselves to their hearts' content. As spacious as are the grounds you could find lads and lassies searching for room enough to play some innocent little game. The whole was a scene of mirth and joy.

The French American orchestra, F. A. McKee, leader, furnished music for the occasion and opened the festivities with a musical overture at 2 o'clock. Perhaps the most exciting feature of the sports was a Marathon race in which Napoleon Vigant won first prize, and Hector Asselin second.

Chorus singing by the young women attendants on the refreshment tables was a pretty feature and was much enjoyed, as were the songs and dances of the little orphans themselves. About 100 of the little tots danced a Maypole dance around a ribbon bedecked pole. To the natural beauty of the surroundings there was added the touch of artificial decoration. Large flags wrapped the facade of the building and floated from the broad piazzas.

At the close of the festivities Rev. Fr. Barrette, O. M. I., made brief remarks, thanking all who had contributed to the success of the affair. He also took occasion to announce that Mrs. Abraham L'Anglais was the victor in a contest for selling the greatest number of badges of admission to the grounds. There were three contestants for the prize, a handsome framed portrait of Fr. Barrette, Mrs. L'Anglais, who brought in $208; Mrs. Euchariste Champagne, who brought in $92, and Mrs. Joseph Albert, who brought in $50.

The fete was given under the general management of Fr. Barrette and under the auspices of St. Anne's sodality, of which he is chaplain. The reception and organization committee was composed of Mrs. Euchariste Champagne, president; Mrs. Elzear H. Choquette, Mrs. Desre Lacombe, Mrs. Charles H. Boisvert and Mrs. W. Parent.

The other committees, with attendants in charge of the various arrangements, were as follows:

THEATRE LA SCALA

The Theatre La Scala played to capacity all day yesterday and not one of the thousands of patrons was dissatisfied. The efforts of the management to provide the best quality combined with a sufficient quantity in its programs has been a big success. This theatre is well known all over the state. Today's program is a very good one with just the right amount of dramatic features and at the same time with plenty of real laughing comedies. Charles Rogers and Mlle. Tessier, the singers, are real artists with fine voices and the know how of singing.

BREEZY POINT.

Breezy Point was the center of attraction for thousands yesterday and every visitor was more than pleased. The music was great, the floor just right and the comforts and beauty of the place the best. The management has decided to provide dancers with free transportation on the steamer in the future by accepting a steam-er ticket for a dance ticket, thus allowing a round trip on the steamer and one dance for five cents. This does away with the only possible objection of extra cost of passage on the boat.

LITTLE HOPE FOR MESSINA

The recent shocks in Messina show that it is hazardous, to build or reside in Messina or vicinity. Any new city raised on the ruins of the old is sure at some future date to meet a similar fate.

ACTION OF CONGRESS DISAPPOINTING

Sometime ago it was predicted as a sort of reproach that congress would remain in session till the Fourth of July. The Fourth has passed and congress is still in session with slight hopes of an immediate adjournment. Time was wasted in discussion of tariff schedules with the sole result that they were fixed as Senator Aldrich and the republican standard-bearers desired. The special session must soon close and yet the tariff bill decided upon does not fulfill the pledges of the republican party to the country. It is revision upward instead of downward as the people were led to expect. It is a betrayal of the public confidence and a violation of republican party pledges. The only way in which this result can be changed is by the veto of the president, but that is not expected. One of the eleventh hour developments is the advocacy of a corporation tax of two per cent. as a means of forestalling an income tax which would call for an annual contribution from most of the United States senators.

THE REV. FR. RONAN.

In the death of Rev. Fr. Ronan of St. Peter's church, the city has lost a zealous, devout and indefatigable pastor, a public spirited and patriotic citizen, a man of deep sympathy and untiring energy for the uplifting of the weak and the erring, for the relief of suffering and the protection of orphaned or destitute children. He was a man of great ability in many directions, an able administrator, a wise counsellor in domestic and business affairs, while in religious matters his sublime faith combined with his simplicity of character and his untiring solicitude for his flock endeared him to his people, the young as well as the old. The great work of his life was spiritual and is therefore invisible, but all those who knew him intimately or who were lifted to a higher life by his pastoral ministrations will say that this was the chief work of his pious life. But the chief visible monument left to keep his memory green in the hearts of his people is the magnificent temple on Gorham street in which his refined taste, his architectural skill, his religious zeal and his wonderful enthusiasm in the service of the Master are all impressably enshrined. Rev. Father Ronan will be missed in Lowell, missed as a priest, as a citizen and as a great power for good in the community.

PROGRESS TOWARDS SANITY ON THE FOURTH.

Never perhaps in the last fifty years has such an effort been made for a safe and sane observance of the Fourth as in the present instance. The result, we believe, is generally gratifying as the number of casualties, fatal and otherwise, has been greatly reduced from that of past years.

The reckless riot of din and noise does nobody any good. It is nerve-racking to everybody and none will be discommoded in the least by a change that will cling to the spectacular if need be, but at the same time eliminate the pandemonium that usually reigns about the streets from the night before until quite late the day of the celebration.

Let us be thankful that as a result of an organized attempt to suppress unnecessary noises on the Fourth there has been a very noticeable absence of that reckless abandon which rendered our streets and public parks a veritable bedlam. There was also a more guarded use of fireworks with the result that there have been fewer accidents from the use of explosives; the doctors and the hospitals had less to do and everybody is better pleased while fewer have to nurse dangerous wounds.

With a like advance towards saner methods of celebrating the Fourth for each of the next few years, the annual slaughter will be stopped and Independence day will be observed in a sensible, enjoyable, and at the same time appropriate manner.

THE PROGRESS OF THE AGE

The progress of the age as indicated by inventions is really marvelous. The electric telegraph is not such an old invention, many of our old residents remembering its installation in this country.

The telephone came next to excite our wonder by linking mankind more closely in providing a means of communicating verbally at a considerable distance.

But both these inventions have been cast into the shade by the invention or discovery of wireless telegraphy. This system is undoubtedly but in its infancy and when fully developed, it may be applied to perform feats that are now considered impossible.

In other lines inventors have made equal progress. The bicycle has been in common use but a brief period, comparatively speaking. The time has arrived, however, when it is being superseded by motor cycles and automobiles. The application of motors to such vehicles is sure to become more common and eventually to revolutionize present day methods of rapid travel. Motor cars are likely to be built in the near future and to be used with or without tracks for special purposes. On the heels of the automobile and motor cycles comes the flying machine, still in a crude shape, it is true, but nevertheless showing promise of speedy development that assures the success of aerial navigation in the near future.

The first step towards a new mode of travel with a flying machine can in all probability be accomplished without great difficulty, it is not without danger, but that danger will be overcome in many different ways as the result of these inventions. What will be the next great invention? Nobody knows, but it is likely to be one that will be as revolutionary as the others. It will change the present mode of travel for better and for greater advantage. It will revolutionize the present mode of travel, it will revolutionize the present mode of travel. That seems to be reserved for the Creator and it is not for us to attempt to anticipate the heavenly bodies in their flight. It is not for us to attempt to anticipate the heavenly bodies in their flight. It is not for us to attempt to anticipate the heavenly bodies in their flight.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is probably true that two can live as cheaply as one, if the one spends a great deal of money.

The man who always says what he thinks ought always to be very careful what he thinks.

It is only on the return trip, after the honeymoon is over, that he can be persuaded to leave his little bride and so forward to the smoking car.

A pessimist is a man who, if by some strange chance he should ever get to heaven, would begin wondering in a day or two if the golden streets weren't slated.

Crocodra may have been fat and frolicked, and she may have walked with a dumpy waddle, but most men don't think of her that way.

Even the man who keeps a cash account can't tell where all his money goes to.

The more you learn, the more you know, especially when you have been crossed in love, and are learning to forget.

To be sure, the farmer may lose a little money sometimes when he goes down into the gold-briek market in the city, but he gets it all back again in the summer when the bumper man comes up into the country for a month's rest on the farm.

Even if there were no such thing as money in the world, men like Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Carnegie would invent it, and then start out to get it all.

Trying to live so as to please the neighbors is about as fruitless a task as it is to try to get the neighbors to live so as to please you.

Even though the world owes every one a living, it shows no present signs of going into bankruptcy.

A good cry often refreshes a woman, but it is a mean man who will make a woman cry just for the purpose of refreshing her.

It's all right for the fellow to say: "Come Mamie let's be chums," but both Mamie and the fellow should know where to draw the "chum" line.

It is too near the sweetheart line to be treated indifferently.

dwindled to 18 inches in width. As she neared the top a storm arose, and Dr. Workman, who had remained below, with a telephotographic camera, took a photograph showing her and two guides with clouds around them. But this climb was not all. The Workman party was in useful collaboration for some months with three special glacier experts, mapping the country as the Swiss Alps have been mapped, and making "curious and important discoveries" in regard to certain "pinnae formations" that have been found in the Andes and South Africa.

A memorial bronze tablet in honor of Colonel John Trumbull, the painter, was formally dedicated in New Haven last Sunday by the David Humphreys branch of the Connecticut society of the Sons of the American Revolution. It is affixed to the exterior wall of the building of the Yale School of Fine Arts, where Trumbull lies buried, and where the most important collection of his paintings is preserved. Trumbull was born at Lebanon, Ct., in 1756, and died in New York in 1843. He was graduated from Harvard, and served with distinction in the revolutionary war as adjutant in Washington and Gates. In 1778 he retired with the rank of colonel, and in 1780 went to London to study under Benjamin West. There he painted his "Battle of Bunker's Hill" and "The Death of Montgomery at Quebec." In 1789 he returned to America, and painted his "Scene from Gibraltar," "Burgoyne's Capitulation," "Burrhead," "Lord Cornwallis," etc. He was one of the first presidents of the National Academy of Design.

C. C. James, deputy minister of agriculture of Canada, has gone to England to start negotiations looking to the solution of the problem of getting domestic servants for homes in the province of Ontario. He hopes to induce enough servants to emigrate from England to supply the need. Commenting on his visit, The London Telegraph says: "It is probable that there is no part of the British empire in which there are at the present moment better or more profitable openings than there are in Ontario for those classes of immigrants—farmers possessed of small capital, farm laborers and domestic servants."

Wilson Vance, father of Louis Joseph Vance, well known for his books, "The Black Bag" and "The Brass Bowl," is himself the author of a novel to be published, under the title of "Big John Baldwin." Big John is a Puritan gentleman who has experienced as a colonist in America and also under Cromwell in England.

An unconfirmed statement is made in London, according to a special cable dispatch to the New York Sun, that the Marquis of Lansdowne has favored the example of the Duke of Norfolk in selling a famous work of art. This is Rembrandt's picture of "The Mill," painted in 1659, which depicts the sunset rays lighting up a lonely windmill upon a ruined bastion. The picture has had varied owners, but has been in the possession of the Lansdowne family at their country seat, Bowood, for more than one hundred years. They bought it originally for $99 guineas ($1246). The present rumor, which is believed in London art circles, mentions a sum approaching $500,000 as the price it has now fetched. It is hinted that the recent visit to England of a celebrated Berlin, was connected with the sale of the picture of the mill. Rembrandt should be confirmed it would serve to accentuate the agitation, already begun in England, for legislation looking towards restrictions upon the sale of foreigners of valuable works of art.

The enormous price mentioned in the dispatch has really been paid for a landscape by Rembrandt it will establish a record. Possibly one of the reasons for attaching a special value to "The Mill" is the tradition that Rembrandt was born in his father's windmill at Leyden, though it is now held that there is no evidence to base this legend. The fact is that at the time of the artist's birth his father lived in the Vedder's teeg in Leyden, where he owned a good house. This is a little, narrow street, running down to the river Rhine. The mill, belonging to Harman van Beyn, was on the left hand opposite; but there is no good ground for the legend which relates that Rembrandt used it as his studio. How-braken, who apparently invented most of the picturesque stories about Rembrandt early in life, said that this was his birthplace and first studio. The fine Rembrandt monument which was unveiled with much pomp and ceremony in Leyden in the summer of 1906 is situated just across the river from the Weddesteg.

MAYOR BUSSE OF CHICAGO, WHO UNDERWENT OPERATION

CHICAGO, July 6.—Mayor Fred A. Busse of Chicago was in a critical condition following an operation for appendicitis at Mercy hospital. He had suffered from nervousness for many months preceding the operation and was in a weakened condition when he went under the knife. Mr. Busse was born in Chicago in 1866 and received his education in the public schools. He went into politics as soon as he was grown and after holding several clerkships in city departments was elected to the legislature. He was successively state senator, state treasurer, postmaster of Chicago and mayor.

where the ambulance was waiting to remove him to St. John's hospital. At the hospital the doctors did everything in their power to save Mr. Busse's life, but it was seen that his skull was badly fractured and they entertained little hope for his recovery. He regained consciousness long enough to recognize his parents, although he was in terrible agony, and died at 9:15, one hour and a half after the accident occurred.

Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs signed the death certificate as death due to a fractured skull received by accident. He was a spare man on the road, having worked on the electric but a short time, and was in charge of an extra when the accident occurred. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ort, and three sisters, Mary, Josephine and Emma, all living at 25 Broadway.

The body was removed to the rooms of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

The car left Lakeview park at 7:15 o'clock and Ort had just started to collect fares when the accident happened. When picked up he was unconscious and the motorman of the car realizing that the injured man was in a precarious condition ran his car back to Lakeview, and a special car took the injured man to Merrimack square

STRUCK BY POLE
Car Conductor Killed on Lakeview Line

Adam C. Ort, a conductor on the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, while walking along the running board of a Lakeview car Sunday night was struck by one of the poles alongside the track and suffered a fracture of the skull which resulted in his death an hour and a half later at St. John's hospital.

While some of the passengers on the car state that he lost his grip on one of the side poles and fell to the ground, others say, and it is the more likely story, that he swung out too far on the running board and was struck on the head by a pole.

The car left Lakeview park at 7:15 o'clock and Ort had just started to collect fares when the accident happened. When picked up he was unconscious and the motorman of the car realizing that the injured man was in a precarious condition ran his car back to Lakeview, and a special car took the injured man to Merrimack square

$25,000 DAMAGE
Caused by Fire in Portland, Me.

PORTLAND, Me., July 6.—A fire which threatened the manufacturing district in the heart of the business section of Portland broke out a few minutes before midnight last night, a general alarm calling out all the apparatus. The fire broke out in the large wooden building at 32-34 Plum street occupied as a repair shop by the F. O. Bailey Carriage Co.

The fire was under control at 1 o'clock. The damage to buildings and contents will not exceed $25,000 and was partly covered by insurance. The fire was kept from spreading to adjoining buildings.

ONE MAN DYING
Serious Stabbing Affray at a Dance

LYNN, July 6.—One man is dying, another may die, and a third is in a serious condition at the Lynn hospital as the result of a stabbing affray at a dance in Swampscott last night where a party of Italians became jealous at rival attentions to a woman. A fourth Italian, Tenerell Freddie, aged 35, being the least injured, is locked up at the police station charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

The injured men are Tony Marrara, aged 32, who was almost disemboweled and cannot live; State Antonio, aged 20, who received multiple wounds and may not live, and Rabiola Tendoro, aged 29, who is out in the left knee, left arm and shoulder and is in a serious condition.

LAWN PARTY
HELD BY THE LADIES OF CENTRALVILLE M. E. CHURCH

The Ladies' Aid society of the Centralville M. E. church held a patriotic lawn party yesterday afternoon and evening. The tables were well patronized and there was a patriotic program in the evening.

The entertainment program was under the direction of Rev. J. T. Carvoun, and comprised the reading by Mr. Russell Fox of the "Independence Bell," the singing of patriotic hymns and national songs, and a closing tableau, illustrating the singing of "America."

MR. ROOSEVELT

Heard His Prowess Told in Song

NAIROBI, British East Africa, July 1.—Colonel Roosevelt heard his prowess as a lion killer told in song and sketched at the entertainment given on Saturday night by the "Nairobi Folies," which Mr. Roosevelt and his son Kermit attended as the guests of His Excellency, Mr. F. J. Jackson, C. G., C. M. G., acting governor, as an evening's diversion after dining at government house. The topical songs dealing with Mr. Roosevelt were a feature of the occasion and at each allusion made to himself Col. Roosevelt's laugh rang out above the applause and laughter of the rest of the audience.

The song describing Colonel Roosevelt's lion hunting was sung by Miss Shooter in the course of a sketch entitled "A tale of the Chase." It ran as follows:

"FELIS LEO"
A lion lurked in his lonely lair,
As Africa's lions do,
For he liked to be where he could get a share
Of a nice little buck with a slice of luck.

In our wonderful nature zoo,
His large inside he nightly fed with zebra or hartbeest instead.
"There isn't a scrap of doubt," said he,
"This buck's exceedingly good for me."

"For I grow fat, fat, fat, fat,
"What on earth does it mat, mat, mat, matter,
"If the way that I creep, on the beasts
In their sleep,
"Makes the poor things seal, seal, seal, scatter."

He hunted game in the moonshine bright,
With never a thought of harm,
But he got quite a fright when there
Hove in sight.
Teddy armed to the teeth with the knife
And sheath,
And a rifle beneath his arm,
The Colonel plugged him with a laugh.

While Kermit took his photograph,
Said he, "Those Wall Street boys
Would cry,
"If they knew how near I'd been to die,
"Oh this country's bull, bull, bull, bull,
"I've enjoyed it full, full, full, full,
"For it enriches the best they can show
In the West,
"That's so wild and wool, wool, wool, wool,"
(British East Africa) recounted some of Mr. Roosevelt's experiences in the colony as follows:

(With apologies to Kipling)
At the port of Kilindi,
Looking eastward 'cross the main;
We welcomed Teddy Roosevelt,
As he came to bid us adieu.

And the rain it fell in torrents,
And the world seemed far from gay;
But we did our best to greet him in
Our way in B. E. A.

He travelled up the railway,
And he said the sights were grand,
And he also said "That's Bully,"
As we hoped to understand.

For the game is here in thousands,
And it's here we'd have him stay;
Just to see giraffes and rhinos
Near the rail in B. E. A.

We heard of hand-fed lions,
And of rhinos on the chair,
How he braved all dangers,
And dandy beasts has slain;

Still, we're nothing heard but rumors,
That's a truth we must confess;
We have no truthful story for
He shut out all the press.

Yes, he shut out all the press,
And he left them there to guess;
They raved, and growled, and grumbled,
They were left in such a mess!

But that's all passed and done with,
For they were not far away;
And their news is scattered broad—
Over all the world today.

Still, he sent in news one Tuesday,
It is nice to be polite;
But the New York papers had it
On the previous Sunday night.

Oh! it really was a frost,
And one finds it to his cost,
He cries to talk the press men,
He is very often lost."

THE LIBERTY BELL AND AUTHOR OF THE DECLARATION

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Contrary to popular tradition, the actual adoption of the Declaration of Independence was not made known on July 4. Although it was generally known in Philadelphia that congress, which was deliberating behind closed doors, had voted favorably on the resolution for independence, the document was not published until July 6, and it was on the 6th that John Nixon read the document to a great crowd of patriots assembled in the state house yard. No sooner was the ceremony over than the people tore the king's coat of arms from over the doorway of the state house and burned it. As history records, congress had ordered the Declaration of Independence read publicly in other cities, and in every case the wildest demonstrations followed. In New York the statue of King George was torn down, and given to the authorities to be melted into bullets. There were processions, the firing of salutes, ringing of bells and the destruction of some effigy or monument to emphasize the people's hatred of England.

6000 ON STRIKE IN POLICE COURT

Mine Workers Quit Their Jobs at Sydney, B. C.

SYDNEY, C. B., July 6.—The strike of the United Mineworkers of America which is regarded as a contest between that organization and the provincial Workmen's organization took place at the collieries of the Dominion Coal Company this morning. About 6000 men failed to appear at the mines this morning. Both forces claim the majority of the workers in the mines.

The labor agitation in the mines of the Dominion Coal Company has been in progress for nearly a year under the direction of the officers of the United Mine Workers of America is the American organization seeking recognition by the company.

In this effort the American labor leaders were opposed by officers of the provincial Workmen's association which was formed here some time before the appearance of the United Mineworkers. The Dominion Coal Company's managers refused the request of the United Mineworkers, it being the intention of Dominion officials that the American labor leaders were seeking to divert the Canadian coal trade to the colliers in the United States. During the last month the controversy between the two labor organizations has grown very bitter and anticipating that a resort might be made to violence the Dominion company built stockades around the mines on the top of which were strung electric wires which could be used in carrying high voltage currents. The company also enlisted more than 150 special officers for government duty.

The strike was practically declared last night when the members of the United Mineworkers came out of the pits with their tools. It was hoped, however, that they might reconsider their action but this morning very few of the United Mineworkers appeared at the collieries. Until reports are received from all the outlying mines the full extent of the strike and the number of men out will not be definitely known.

Both sides this forenoon claimed a majority of the miners and the strike is expected to demonstrate the comparative strength of the two organizations. The United Mineworkers were known to have a large majority of workers in Numbers 2, 6 and 9 collieries and it was about the Number 2 colliery that trouble was feared.

REP. CUSHMAN

Of Washington Passed Away

NEW YORK, July 6.—Francis Cushman, representative in congress from Tacoma, Wash., died in the Roosevelt hospital at 5 a. m. from pneumonia. At his bedside were U. S. Sen. Samuel H. Burton of Washington and Andrew S. Burleigh of this city. A life long friend.

Congressman Cushman underwent an operation a short time ago and pneumonia resulted. Senator Tillamook, Mr. Burleigh who had been with the patient almost constantly since his condition became serious said they would make arrangements for the sending of the body to Washington.

CHILD'S WELFARE

Discussed at Conference in Worcester

WORCESTER, July 6.—Foretelling the establishment of the new child study bureau at Clark university a conference was opened today which has for its object the welfare of the child and which promises to attract world-wide attention. It is hoped that as a result of this conference an organization of all the societies and movements having to do with child life will be effected. During the four days the conference is in session many of the leaders of the movements for the social intellectual and physical betterment of children will speak on the different phases of the subject.

President G. Stanley Hall, of the university and president of the conference addressed the opening session today, outlining the plans and purpose of the assemblage. Dr. L. N. Wilson, librarian of the institution, was the next speaker and was followed by Mrs. Frederick Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mothers, and Miss Patty S. Hill, president of the National Kindergarten association.

NIGHT EDITION

GRAND OBSERVANCE

President Taft Goes to Attend Lake Champlain Celebration

NEW YORK, July 6.—President Taft who arrived here from Norwich at 3 a. m., today, left at 7.45 for Albany enroute to the Lake Champlain celebration.

The president slept for nearly five hours this morning aboard his private car Mayflower in the Grand Central station here. His car was placed next to the bumper at the Esplanade end of the lake. Later it was attached to the Adirondack and Montreal express which left at 7.45 a. m. for Albany.

Arriving at Albany shortly after 1 o'clock the president's car will be attached to the special train reaching there from Washington about the same time and bearing distinguished guests from Washington enroute to the Lake Champlain celebration. The president will spend this afternoon sightseeing at old Fort Ticonderoga and at Plattsburg and will spend the night at the Hotel Champlain at Bluff Point.

Tomorrow the celebration along the New York shore reaches its climax and a day of impressive ceremonies will be concluded with a banquet tendered by the governor and the New York state commission to President Taft. This banquet probably will be the most brilliant function of the celebration. It will be attended by the representatives of 4000 great nations—England, France, the United States and at President Taft is expected to deliver his principal speech. He also may speak briefly at the Plattsburg ceremonies tomorrow afternoon where Senator Root will be the orator of the day. The French ambassador, Mr. Jusserand, is among the guests from Washington who will spend Thursday in and around Burlington, Vt., leaving there early Thursday night in order to reach Washington Friday afternoon.

The trip of the special train arranged by the railway officials to bring the president's car from Norwich to New York furnished no little excitement when one of the windows in the day coach acting as a buffer between the Mayflower and the engine was struck with a missile and sent splinters of broken glass flying through the car. A freight train was passing at the time and a large lump of coal shipping from one of the cars was hurled by the momentum of the train against the window. A trainman sitting nearby was badly frightened but suffered no serious injury.

By noon the rain had stopped, the sun shone, and the prospects were that the program would be carried out. It had been arranged that the train carrying the president and party, including the French and British ambassadors, would stop at Addison Junction, a short distance from the Old Fort. With the tenth regiment lined up along either side of the track a convention consisting of Commissioner Howard Pell of New York, David Williams and W. W. Richards of Fort Ticonderoga will board the train and welcome the president. Mr. Taft will then be taken to the fort where he will go to the west barracks where he will be received by Mrs. Stephen Pell and her father, Col. Robert Thompson, through whose instrumentality the old fort is being restored, and shown about the place. Later he will be escorted to the speaker's stand. After the ceremonies the president and party will go to the old Pell mansion known as the Pell pavilion where refreshments will be served. They will then be taken to the steamer Ticonderoga which will take them to Fort Henry where the special train will be boarded for Plattsburg.

TODAY'S CELEBRATION
BURLINGTON, Vt., July 6.—For the large French population of this city and other places in the state, today was the big day of the Champlain tercentenary celebration. Practically the entire program today was devoted to observances by the descendants of the men who fought to retain for the province the right to trade and found by their illustrious countryman, Samuel De Champlain.

A large number of the French societies of Vermont and other New England states and from Canada participated in a parade in the forenoon. In which there were many floats representing some of the train of events which followed the coming of the French explorer. The parade was reviewed along the line of march by representatives of the city state and church. The early weather conditions today were very promising. It had rained heavily during the night and although the rain ceased this morning the sun was still obscured behind the banks of clouds.

Previous to the starting of the parade an open-air meeting was held in a park and a number of addresses were delivered. In French. Among the speakers were Adelard Caron of Worcester, R. I. and Dr. George A. Boutwell of Brookline, Mass. who also read an original poem. Music was furnished by the Champlain choir and a band.

AT FORT TICONDEROGA
TICONDEROGA, N. Y., July 6.—Old Fort Ticonderoga formed the setting for today's ceremonies in connection with the Lake Champlain tercentenary celebration. Added importance is given to today's ceremonies by the arrival of President Taft and a party of distinguished guests late in the afternoon. A heavy rain which set in shortly after 6 o'clock gave the decorations a bedazzled appearance and threatened to play havoc with the plans of the commissions. There was a prospect that the literary exercises might have to be held at the village of Ticonderoga two miles away or postponed entirely if the rain continued. The special guest train which left Albany this morning brought the members of the New York state legislature and a party of guests of the New York Champlain commission, arriving at 10.30 a. m. The party was disembarked at the Ticonderoga dock and went directly on

SUDDEN DEATH

Of Mary Glynn of Appleton Street

Mary Glynn, aged 65 years, died suddenly Saturday night at her home, 279 Appleton street. Heart disease was the cause of death.

The woman appeared to be in her usual good health during the day and was last seen alive about 9 o'clock. About 10.30 o'clock one of the occupants of the house found the woman apparently unconscious in a chair. Dr. Wm. M. Collins was summoned and after looking at her said that she had died for an hour.

Latest Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs was called and viewed the body.

LOWELL RUNNER

Took the 10-Mile Race at Nashua

NASHUA, N. H., July 6.—Henri Renaud, a student at B. A. A. marathon this year, was defeated in a 15 mile race against a relay team of three men at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon. Renaud showed good form, making a remarkable start at the end. His three opponents, J. G. Silva of Clifford, Mass., Wilbur F. Maple of Manchester, N. H., and N. S. Swadmark of Concord, N. H., the first three men in the 20 mile race held here May 22, each running five miles.

Silva made a long gain on Renaud in his five miles, and the other two maintained this, defeating Renaud by about half a mile. The cup was awarded to Silva for making the fastest time. His time was 27m. 55s. Maple followed with 31m. 53s. and Swadmark with 34m. 41s. Renaud's time was 1h. 34m. 30s.

The 10 mile open race, half on the road, was won by Arthur Gaudreault of Lowell. Cars Klitchis of Nashua was second. Albert Theroux of Nashua third and Stanley Williams of Nashua fourth. The time was 1h. 3m. 25s.

HOTEL BURNED

THE THIRTY GUESTS ESCAPED IN SAFETY

PORTLAND, Me., July 6.—The Valley View house at Peaks Island was burned today. There were no accidents, all the thirty guests escaping safely. The building was a two and half story wooden structure and was burned to the ground, the damage not exceeding $2000. The origin of the fire was unknown. Absence of wind saved surrounding buildings.

ALDERMEN TO MEET

TO ACT ON ORDER FOR FIRE APPARATUS

The board of aldermen will meet in regular session this evening and there will be a special meeting of the common council. The special meeting of the council is called for the purpose of taking action on the $17,000 order for fire apparatus that was held up on notice of reconsideration at the last meeting.

AMERICAN SUGAR CO.

Pleaded Not Guilty to Charge of Conspiracy

NEW YORK, July 6.—The American Sugar Refining Co. in the United States circuit court today entered pleas of not guilty to the indictments recently found against it as a corporation, charging conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade and with monopolizing the manufacture of raw and refined sugar. Similar pleas were entered from Washington by President Thomas, president of the company; Arthur Donner, its treasurer; Charles Sent and George Frazier, directors; John E. Parsons, director and chief counsel; and Thomas B. Harned and Gustave Kissell, co-defendants. Judge Hand accepted the pleas and granted counsel two weeks' time to take other action regarding the indictments. At the same time the government asked that the bail of the individual defendants be fixed at $10,000 each, but Judge

Hand announced that he did not consider bail necessary to insure their appearance and none was demanded of them. John Mayer, a director of the company, was given until July 19 to answer the pleas. The indictments were the outgrowth of the disclosures of the suit brought by the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Co. for damages alleged to have resulted from the closing down of the Pennsylvania Co. of plant after the American Co. or officials of it had, it was alleged, financed a loan through which control of the plant was obtained. Kissell is charged with being involved in the conspiracy as the promoter of the loan to Adolf Segal, president of the Pennsylvania company, through which the control is alleged to have been secured. Harned was the attorney for Segal and is charged with being similarly involved.

DISASTROUS FIRE CONG. CUSHMAN

Was Narrowly Averted One of Wits of the House is Dead

LITTLETON, N. H., July 6.—A disastrous fire was averted in Littleton yesterday morning by the work of Chief Elbridge C. Young and his men, a blaze having started in the Odd Fellows' block from a gasoline stove in the basement of Edward Baker's restaurant. The flames spread rapidly to the block on the west, which is separated by a narrow stairway and which is owned by Gen. Daniel C. Remick.

Both blocks were tenanted by many families, and fireman Lewis was obliged to break in 20 doors in the Kilburn block alone to wake the sleeping occupants. The loss was about $10,000.

MAN BETRAYED

Jealousy Caused Arrest of Robber

FITCHBURG, July 6.—Betrayed by the jealousy of another man's wife, because he had taken still another woman to share his home with her, Antonio Mazzari, for whom the New Haven police have been looking for several months, was arrested yesterday. He has been taken from Worcester county jail to New Haven to answer to the charge of robbery and attempted murder. The woman who betrayed him, Mrs. Mary Sabados, goes along with him as a witness.

The other woman, unmarried, has disappeared. Meanwhile the Sabados woman's husband is languishing in jail in New Haven upon a charge similar to the one with which the latter after her husband was incarcerated. "To add to the peculiar tale, Mazzari is accused by the New Haven police with being a Black Hand exponent who has made his livelihood mostly by blackmailing his countrymen and has escaped because of their fear of him."

POLICE BOARD

MAYOR'S DECISION WILL SOON BE READY.

Mayor Brown was not at the city hall this forenoon but it was stated that his findings in the police board matter would be ready in a day or two.

THE INCOME TAX GETS DIVORCE

To be Submitted to the States Report That Mrs. Thomas as Got Decree

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The Senate celebrated the Fourth yesterday by the attempt of the parties concerned to keep it a secret, it is said that Mrs. Spencer Thomas was granted a divorce from the income tax. The administrative features, supposed to require a week or more of debate, were practically all disposed of. The joint resolution for an income tax constitutional amendment as a part of the tariff bill program was carried unanimously. All this did not occupy the senate's entire working day, and there was daily adjournment.

SECOND DAY

OF NATIONAL EDUCATION CONVENTION OPENED.

DENVER, Colo., July 6.—The second day's session of the National Educational convention today opened with ten departmental meetings. This morning the departments of kindergarten, school administration, manual training, business, rural and agricultural, physical and Indian education, held sessions. U. S. Commissioner Elmer Brown was the principal speaker before the Kindergarteners. He was followed by Frank E. Dwyer of Cleveland and George M. Peck of Rochester, N. Y.

It was announced last night that Commissioner Brown had withdrawn his name from consideration by the nominating committee for the office of president. This decision is said to have been the result of opposition to Mr. Brown which is said to have developed in certain quarters.

Parade of Nations Held in Lawrence

LAWRENCE, July 6.—The Fourth of July official observance was elaborate, the city having appropriated $2000. The program included sports, amateur and professional baseball, football, cricket, basketball, children's entertainment at the city hall, pigeon shoot and band concerts.

The feature event was the "parade of nations" in which 11 nationalities took part in costume. The prize for the best turnout, $125, was won by the Chinese. The Germans taking the second prize of $100 and the third, of $75, going to the Portuguese.

For the best floats the Scotch carried off three prizes, first, second and third. For the best unique and special. Neither the Irish nor the French turned out, owing to some disagreement with Mayor White.

The parade was made up of 10 divisions headed by Chief Marshal Chas. A. Salsbury, with Lieut. Louis S. Coy, chief of staff; William W. Roberts, adjutant; Capt. Robert W. Forsyth, sergeant, and Charles P. Rushforth, bugler.

On the reviewing stand at the City Hall, with Mayor White and the registration committee were Mayor Harry of Salem, Wing Sing K. Ho, Chinese consul general of New York, and a number of prominent citizens.
